A RECOMPENSE OF PROFIT

JOHN M. TUTT

JESUS' parable of the talents indicates that there is no essential difference between one, two, and five talents. They designate variety, not quantity. According to Christian Science there is but one quantity—the essence of the universal substance of Spirit, God, from which all qualities or attributes emanate. Talents are illustrative of the multifarious aspects of God. Thus one talent is as precious and as important as five talents to the infinite intelligence and so to the world.

Is not the underlying purpose of the parable to set forth the impartiality of God in a partial concept of creation and the equality of man's potential regardless of the scope of one's human operation? Is not the one-talent individual in reality as capable and as competent as the two- or five-talented ones, with respect to opportunity and achievement and productivity? The divine demand is that one's talents be employed. A recompense of profit will not accrue to the indolent.

Jesus believed in the just reward of industry, in individual responsibility to produce, to multiply and replenish the earth, to gain and possess and dispose. He taught that to him that has exercised his talents well shall be given a recompense of reward. And the inevitable recompense of loss is to him that refuses to employ his talent. And he taught and proved that as Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, states it (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 199), "The devotion of thought to an honest achievement makes the achievement possible."

There can be no insurmountable obstacle to the utilization of one's talent, and the use of it cannot fail to bring profit. Intelligent activity in any right field of endeavor is necessary to assure security, abundance, peace, contentment, all of which are the reward of unselfed service. One must employ his talent uninhibited by misgivings, doubts, and fears in order to reap the recompense of the divine profit system. And it is true that there is profit to be had even from mistakes if they are repented of and not repeated.

The real Christian Scientist faces only profit and no loss. How shall we conduct ourselves, then, in a social order tending progressively away from the individualism of Christianity as Jesus taught and lived it? He gave the example in this as in all other aspects of human life. When some Pharisees brought him a penny, he asked (Mark 12:16), "Whose is this image and superscription?"

"Cæsar's," was the reply.

Then Jesus answered, "Render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and to God the things that are God's"; and he paid his taxes and otherwise obeyed the laws of the land.

The Master took no active part in politics, and he made it clear to Pilate that his kingdom was not a worldly one. Mrs. Eddy once gave this statement to the press (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 276): "I am asked, 'What are your politics?' I have none, in reality, other than to help support a righteous government; to love God supremely, and my neighbor as myself." She was outspoken in her views and convictions, yet she always adhered to her divinely given mission and ministry. She used her talent and earned five more in fulfilling her destiny under the divine profit system of operative Christian Science.

In the application of divine Science to humanity there is no such thing as a nonprofit activity. Those fields white unto harvest, when reaped, pay off some thirty, some sixty, some an hundredfold.

There is nothing wrong with the universal Mind, God. There is nothing wrong with the spiritual idea, man, God's begotten Son, in whatever variation thereof. Health, perfection, all good qualities or ideas, belong to Mind and are the components of man. They are common to individual man, the man expressed in infinite variety or originality.

Mrs. Eddy, who viewed each mortal from an impersonal standpoint, did not see a mortal as spiritual. Rather, she sought to see the real person where a mortal appeared to human sense to be. In reality God is not over there in space and we over here. There is but one consciousness, Mind, individualized in man, as idea. And this real man is right where the mortal seems to be.

There are not two men, the real and the unreal. In the human consciousness there is the wheat, or true ideas, the reverse of the tares, or false conceptions. Whatever is good in human consciousness is real idea, is of God, and depicts the real man, and to see this good is to see by that much the real selfhood. Whatever is bad in human consciousness is unreal and on its way out, and to see it as bad is to speed its departure.

When the last tare is detected and destroyed the real man will be revealed in and as the right idea, man—the wheat. Thus we observe that all is profit in this husbandry, even the loss is gain. We see that the individual we now identify by name retains all the good characteristics or identity without the tares, or false concepts, which have now disappeared.

In the spiritual regeneration there will be no loss of identities, but there will be a retention and a glorification of all the good we have known in the individuals we have known and known of. There is never a loss of good. The vengeance of the Lord is upon evil, never upon good. The retention of good is as certain as the existence of good. Is not the Lord's way equal? Once one has found good to be a component of his being, he can never let it go; it is his consciousness, his being, his Life.

In the profit system of Christian Science we find a basic law laid down by the Master, "The labourer is worthy of his hire" (Luke 10:7). This presupposes honest devotion and endeavor, not the whine of a lazy lout. It means all that the honorable and glorious word "labor" means. It means what our Leader means when she counsels students to make an adequate charge for their services and then conscientiously earn it. It means what Paul meant when he pointed out that one who sows sparingly reaps sparingly; whereas one who sows bountifully reaps abundantly.

And Jesus expressed it thus: "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again" (Luke 6:38).

God will indeed come with a recompense of justice and of profit. Man in Science is the servant of Mind, of restful Mind. If our heart is in the job, what our hands have found to do, we can safely leave reward to the divine order, for giving and getting are one, and the one is giving. Service is the rationale of being, and he who serves not, litters the earth. In unselfed service one gains not merely merit but the dignity of the worthiness of his reward.

Although Jesus asserted that the poor are always with us, he in no way endorsed poverty or set his approval on it. He merely commented on a fact. But his whole life was affluent. It was this divine affluence which caused Paul to exclaim in awe and wonderment (Rom. 11:33), "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God!"

Isaiah perceived the wealth and wisdom of ideas and saw them enrich and ennoble barren lives. He perceived the divine recompense of close communion with Mind. He wrote (Isa. 48:17), "Thus saith the Lord, thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel; I am the Lord thy God which teacheth thee to profit, which leadeth thee by the way that thou shouldest go."

And does not our individual experience teach us that God's ways are profitable? The wealth of the Father is the riches of the Son. Like the widow's cruse, sources and resources never fail. Supply is the reflection of substance, and reflection is simply the objectification of thought. Money can be taken away from men, but they cannot be deprived of the constructive, the creative thinking which enables them to make money. That is why we say, "You can't keep a good man down." Always he has the recompense of profit.

If material riches can be piled up successfully, how much more can a recompense of ideas be acquired by the truly studious man who seeks always to be taught of God, Mind, to profit. It is so right to profit! The prodigal son by his folly experienced deprivation, but he learned to profit by his sharp experiences. He learned that it is folly to be wise in worldly ways and that the Father's kingdom is always attainable to us by walking in the only way to wealth, health, holiness, security, the way to the many-mansioned house of Mind's creation. He always wins who sides with God.

"THE GUIDING STAR OF BEING"

GLADYS C. GIRARD

ONE of the most satisfying conditions of thought which mankind can experience is a clear sense of guidance and direction in everyday affairs. Men have experienced spiritual guidance throughout the ages in incidents both small and great. But Christian Science, thoroughly studied and heeded, makes possible the spiritual understanding of such guidance.

On the opening page of the Preface to Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy speaks of a shepherd beholding the first rays of light at dawn. Then she says: "So shone the pale star to the prophet-shepherds; yet it traversed the night, and came where, in cradled obscurity, lay the Bethlehem babe, the human herald of Christ, Truth, who would make plain to benighted understanding the way of salvation through Christ Jesus, till across a night of error should dawn the morning beams and shine the guiding star of being. The Wisemen were led to behold and to follow this daystar of divine Science, lighting the way to eternal harmony."

Jesus, the master Christian, experienced divine guidance constantly. His listening to God and his following of His guidance were so outstanding that he became the Way-shower for mankind.

The writer, returning home rather late one night, was traveling on a minor thoroughfare approaching a main cross-city highway. The signal light showed red, and she waited. Her car was first in line, and when the light turned green, all appeared clear ahead. But spiritual guidance strongly indicated that she should wait. Just at the time when her automobile would have been in the center of the main highway, another car ran through the red signal at a rapid rate of speed. Without the guiding inspiration which literally blocked her going forward, a serious accident could have taken place. Such an experience illustrates the guiding Principle which Christian Science reveals to be God.

"The guiding star of being" reveals health where physical illness seems stubbornly real. It unfolds harmony where difficult human relationships prevail. When followed, it leads thought and experience out of poverty into usefulness and abundance. As one genuinely hungers after the real and substantial basis of life and earnestly obeys God's laws, his thought is guided away from matter into Spirit, out of despair into hope, into the demonstration of purity and love.

An understanding of God's allness and faithfulness to this pure concept is a prerequisite to letting "the guiding star of being" operate in our lives. Harmony is intact, is constant, is real; but in order that one may experience this harmony and be conscious of constant guidance, sense testimony must be refuted and the pure concept be respected and maintained.

One may experience difficulty with a mathematical problem and have to work diligently over a set of figures for some time in order to arrive at the right answer; but he never for an instant entertains doubt of the possibility of working the problem out and arriving at the correct solution, if he is loyal to the rules of numbers. So with the problems of daily living. Thought must be pure and sure that divine Principle, God, is always available and that His truths are possible of demonstration; then guidance will be experienced.

Mrs. Eddy speaks further of this guidance on pages 320 and 321 of "Miscellaneous Writings." We read:

"The star of Bethlehem is the light of all ages; is the light of Love, to-day christening religion undefiled, divine Science; giving to it a new name, and the white stone in token of purity and permanence.

"The wise men follow this guiding star; the watchful shepherd chants his welcome over the cradle of a great truth, and saith, 'Unto us a child is born,' whose birth is less of a miracle than eighteen centuries ago; and 'his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.'"

Humility is a vital constituent of thought and living and helps one to become conscious of the guidance of divine Science. Without this quality, although the guidance be always present, one can rarely be aware of it. Humility is the result of a clear, true consciousness of man's relationship to God as His child, with no lesser parent or source. Complete surrender of self-will and personal ego results from many sturdy wrestlings in thought, from putting off the old man, the false embodiment of being. True humility comes when one accepts the oneness of being and stops attempting to divide the one infinite whole into separate parts, but, rather, understands individual spiritual selfhood as the reflection of the one All-God.

If we would be wise pilgrims on this earth scene, we shall endeavor to "follow this daystar of divine Science" right up to the demonstration of absolute perfection in all things. In so doing, we shall find our true individuality in the nature of awakened spiritual selfhood right where the false, human sense had presented a discordant, sick, sinning, hating, criticizing, judging mortal. Each one can find "the guiding star of being." It is universal and available to all through the earnest study and application of the way of Life designated as Christian Science.

The way of the Christ is wholly impregnable, but it must be followed with complete sincerity; and followed for Truth's sake alone, not for effect or results. Paul outlined evidences of Christliness when he said, "I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake" (II Cor. 12: 10). The results of following Christ will come; they are inevitable, but they are the added things.

Guidance from God is not always in line with our human desires and personal plans and estimates. It will always lead us into the demonstration of harmony with the workers of true Christianity and into paths of service for our fellow men. Following it, we shall find ourselves kinder, more patient, more forgiving, more trustworthy, more loving, more long-suffering, more accurate, more wise, less fatigued by welldoing, and in all things more like our Way-shower, Christ Jesus. This guidance cannot be lost; it is destined by the Father. Mrs. Eddy says in the opening verse of her illustrated poem, "Christ and Christmas" (p. 7),

"Fast circling on, from zone to zone,—
Bright, blest, afar,—
O'er the grim night of chaos shone
One lone, brave star."

In the Book of Revelation we find this heavenly promise to the faithful one (2: 28): "I will give him the morning star." This star of divine guidance has appeared, and nothing can extinguish its light. Our daily heeding of even the slightest appearance of this star of heaven will forward the more profound instances of guidance "lighting the way to eternal harmony."

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST AND WORLD AFFAIRS

ROBERT DOLLING WELLS

THERE are enormous demands being made upon the patience, the love, the ingenuity, the understanding of mankind in these days. Calamity seems to confront men at the very time that the largest opportunities for progress have been made available through the freeing of thought from many of its crippling limitations. Great good and great evil appear to be side by side, and men wonder which will gain and keep the ascendancy.

The progressive Christian Scientist will make no attempt to avoid issues involving world affairs. This is as true for the housewife, the businessman, the student, as it is for the responsible public official. Christian Science provides the proper answers to troublous questions. The earnest Scientist is equipped to convey to others the answers to the extent that he uses what he understands of his religion.

Christ Jesus urged his followers to go into the world, not to avoid it. He wanted them to take part in the redemption of mankind from its troubles, not to live in uninterested detachment from the problems of mankind. And Christian Science repeats the Master's demands.

What can the individual do? He can prove that there is a Science of Life. Mrs. Eddy sends this message to the Christian world (Miscellany, p. 103):

"In the midst of the imperfect, perfection is reluctantly seen and acknowledged. Because Science is unimpeachable, it summons the severest conflicts of the ages and waits on God.

"The faith and works demanded of man in our textbooks, the Bible and 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' and the proof of the practicality of this faith and these works, show conclusively that Christian Science is indeed Science,—the Science of Christ, the Science of God and man, of the creator and creation."

And how does the individual prove the Science of Christ, Truth? The problem of relationship between individuals is a miniature of the problem of relationship between nations. What the world needs is what the individual needs: an understanding of the spiritual postulates of Christian Science and action which proceeds from that understanding. The individual Christian Scientist who acts on the basis of these postulates to correct a misunderstanding with a member of his family, or a business associate, or a neighbor is removing a beam from his own eye; he will then see more clearly his part in removing the mote that interferes with the world's vision of the answer to its need.

The basic teachings of Christian Science are simple, but the practice of them can change the current course of world affairs. This Science teaches that the spiritual reality of being has its divine Principle. This Principle is God, divine Love, Life, Soul, Mind, Truth, Spirit. Spiritual man is the child of God, the expression of Principle. This man lives in God's spiritual universe, which is fully supported by divine law, is wholly good, and is continuous in harmonious unfoldment.

The human scene is not always in accordance with the spiritual reality of being. The ideal of the perfection of God and of His reflection, man, is not manifest humanly in all the ways of mankind. It may seem that we are ruled by mortals, subjected to material laws, and made the sport of economic and political and geographic circumstances. But the true ideal can be manifested humanly. And it is our job as Christian Scientists to see to it that it is.

Anyone who is sufficiently aware of the suffering of mortals will yearn with a steadfast desire to bring the redeeming and glorifying truths of spiritual reality within reach of the present capacities of mankind. Standing before a blackboard, we should not be satisfied with the mere knowledge that there is a principle of numbers and a progressive unfoldment of the ideas of numbers. We should, rather, recognize the demand to develop that unfoldment into outward expression. In like manner, we cannot abstractly enjoy a spiritual ideal; we must take an active part in developing that ideal in demonstration.

With a problem of personal relationship the need is to face it and not ignore it. The need is to develop the spiritual ideas that have a basis in the postulates of Christian Science. For instance, we know that inharmony is not part of the reality of God and His man. But when there is inharmony in our experience, it means that in some degree we are acting as though reality were not the true nature of God's likeness.

We may say to ourselves, for example, "I know that So-and-So is really the child of God, but . . ." But this and but that! There are no exceptions to the truth of genuine selfhood. If we see clearly the spiritual nature of the one before us, we shall feel within our consciousness a sense of peace, a joy in the living present, a warmth of affection, and we shall act accordingly. Do we feel and act from the basis of belief in mortality or of an understanding of spiritual reality?

Our present and wonderful job is only to look with eyes that can see clearly what is really going on in the world of Spirit and then to take whatever active and constant steps are within our individual capacity to demonstrate what we see. And what is really going on is always going on in God's image and likeness. The truth of man is good, and the mortal sense that shows us an evil thing, a condition ruled by pride, or prejudice, or ignorance, or the like, lacks the qualifications of reality; therefore we have a perfect right to reject belief in its reality.

Christian Science teaches us how to look for the spiritual truth, the wonderful stature of the man God made, the only man there really is, and to discern the error that needs to be denounced and destroyed. The truth may not force itself upon our attention. We may need to look deep into human consciousness to find evidence of goodness and perfection, but if our own vision is made pure by love, by spiritual understanding, we shall find this and be glad. Christ Jesus demonstrated well-being when the evidence before him was leprosy, or palsy, or blindness, or even death. He did not bring good into the present; he saw and proved health only because it is always the spiritual condition of man, God's idea.

When we are faced with a problem of human relationship, when personality seems to force itself upon our attention in individual or world affairs, it is a good practice to enumerate the evidences or even hints of reality available to our present vision. Paul said (Phil. 4:8), "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

We can appreciate and love each hint of divinity, and there are many such hints even in the life of one who seems to be the most obstinate enemy. Such appreciation and love remove the beam from our own eye. There are no exceptions to the present perfection of spiritual manhood, and if we see exceptions when we look on the international scene, this is indication enough that human consciousness needs the purifying activity of the Christ, Truth. At the outset we ourselves need to clear our vision so that we may look again and see that where wicked mortal man seems to be, there in reality is the man of God.

Jesus' ability to heal the sick was one with his love for mankind. The Master gave the highest possible rule for human action when he said (Matt. 5:44), "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you."

When Jesus blessed those who cursed him, did good to those who hated him, or prayed for those who despitefully used him, it did not mean that he was ignoring the errors which seem to possess men. It simply meant that while denouncing the evil in men's minds he was making no exceptions to his genuine love for the real man.

We need to follow as closely as possible this same practice in international affairs. If we wait until other nations stop cursing us, or hating us, or despitefully using us, before we recognize evidences of good and acknowledge the present reality of true manhood, we are not following the Master's way, that is, we are not meeting the spiritual demands of these times.

Seeing the good in an enemy does not close our eyes to the evil that needs to be destroyed. Jesus' love for his enemies protected him from those enemies until his final ascension. And the Christian Scientist's enlightened love for mankind's true manhood will do the same, will bless friend and foe and save the world from the crucifying threat of calamity; it will bring world affairs not only a resurrection of human hope, but an ascendancy of spiritual good in the living present. It is a cause worthy of our greatest endeavor.

Gratitude Is Prayer

JESSIE LOUISE SALLS

THE grateful heart awakes to see
A world invisible before.
Creative Mind, now understood,
Opens wide the once closed door.

The soul in loveliness delights,
And all God's universe is fair
When grateful heart has come to see
That gratitude to God is prayer.

CONTEMPLATING "THE REALITIES SUPERNAL"

JAMES K. WESTOVER

SUCCESS in life cannot be accomplished through desultory mental ramblings. Christian Science inspires the right thinking and acting that cause a clear, progressive path to unfold before us.

In the textbook, Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy writes (p. 261), "Fixing your gaze on the realities supernal, you will rise to the spiritual consciousness of being, even as the bird which has burst from the egg and preens its wings for a skyward flight." Through fixing one's gaze "on the realities supernal," one grows gradually out of false concepts into spiritual understanding.

It is always well to reiterate and reemphasize within our thinking the meaning of the word "supernal." A dictionary informs us that one meaning is "of heavenly or spiritual character; ethereal." Realities are to be sought and found, not in material thoughts and conditions but in the contemplation of the exalting ideas of Spirit. The bird bursting from its confinement and preparing to set forth upon its first flight exemplifies what is felt by human beings in their earliest contemplation of "the realities supernal."

The Christian Scientist soon learns to be always alert to distinguish between those thought elements which are human, and therefore fallible, and the perfect, spiritual ideas which originate in the infinitude of Mind, God. He accepts the latter as true, therefore infallible and unerring. On this sure foundation he knows that he may proceed happily and safely in any right endeavor.

As the sunshine of Truth breaks through the clouds of material sense, one begins to perceive the reality of existence. Men and things must be perceived in their true light, and they cannot be so recognized while clouds of erroneous mortal thinking obscure the view. Jesus said, "He that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth" (John 12:35). According to the first chapter of Genesis, God reveals light before He reveals man. In Science there never was a time when man was without the light of intelligence and wisdom. Understanding this, one finds his progressive path illuminated.

A man was engaged to travel over a stated territory in the interest of certain flour-milling and feed products. Ordinarily the service which he was able to render was pleasant and rewarding. There came a season, however, when falling prices slowed the demand, and the buyers anticipated further declines daily. So business was at a standstill, and the salesman was reminded of it at every call on the trade. Depression seemed to seize both buyer and seller, and there was no immediate prospect of a break in the market.

This salesman was a student of Christian Science, and he was not long in perceiving the necessity for fixing his gaze, his thought, on the divine verities. He realized that he must look to spiritual Truth humbly, obediently, expectantly, clearly realizing its wholeness, if he would solve this problem.

The depressed market continued for another two weeks. Then suddenly, all on the same day, the buyers along his route of travel began to place carload orders. After each such order and before making the next call, this man stopped by the side of the road. He then silently and devoutly thanked God for the correct view of business, the reflection of God's goodness and activity, which his understanding of Christian Science had revealed. In his further search for the truth that evening, he opened to a passage in the third chapter of the Book of Proverbs and read: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold."

Fixing his thought on the realities of Spirit, the Christian Scientist learns that man is never in trouble. It is only mankind that evidence distress or disease. The distinction between the real man, spiritual and eternal, and mankind is clear in the consciousness of him who adheres to the truth of being. Man, he perceives, is God's representative, the highest idea in Mind, while mankind is limited by the falsity that life and intelligence can reside in a material body.

Our gaze should always be fixed on that which is perfect and real and should not waver. One should not concern himself with the labyrinthine perplexities which error would set before him; he should move steadily on a righteous course like the mariner, who, having had long experience with the sea and with chart and compass, mentally beholds his destination long before the shore comes into view.

If a Scientist is tempted to see a patient's shortcomings as real, he must look away from these failings and fix his thought steadfastly on the immortal man of God's creating. He must come swiftly back to his understanding of the perfection of God, man, and the universe, realizing that this perfection is the answer coming before his prayer. The patient, on his part, must yield to the direction that divine Love is providing. He must not drift with false mortal thinking around him or struggle against the favorable winds of Love. He too must allow his gaze to center upon the perfect ideal. Then, working together, practitioner and patient will come into a happy realization of man's at-one-ment with all that is good. Together they will prove that the ever-presence of good has already established the fact that evil is ever absent.

Persistence in the truth, insofar as it is understood, is the only effective means of applying the law of divine Truth and the rules of Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy gave excellent example of her own steadfastness, and she left for posterity the clear, concise teaching of the Christian Science textbook for our guidance and progress. This was no light or easy experience for our Leader. She encountered much opposition, ecclesiastical and secular, in her consecrated determination to acquaint humanity with the truth of being. Christian Scientists have much reason, therefore, to revere her and to strive to emulate her example.

Clearly perceiving "the realities supernal," we shall place a fuller value on this statement in Science and Health (p. 262): "We must reverse our feeble flutterings—our efforts to find life and truth in matter—and rise above the testimony of the material senses, above the mortal to the immortal idea of God. These clearer, higher views inspire the Godlike man to reach the absolute centre and circumference of his being."

A hymn writer has counseled us (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 112):

Sing the Word, whose power supernal
  Loveliness and joy unfoldeth;
Man who lives in Life eternal
  Evermore the light beholdeth.

FRUITFUL ACTIVITY

STELLA DENISE COUSINS

THE great love of Mrs. Eddy for mankind enabled her to give, in a form which all may understand and use, the complete statement of Christian Science in Science and Health. Evidence of some of the immediate results of her work can be found in the chapter entitled "Fruitage." The accounts of healing therein related were the direct results of reading and studying this textbook.

Any conscientious student soon finds that he too can use in his everyday affairs the truths which he learns from a study of this book. As he understands more and more of the truths of God and of man, made in His spiritual image and likeness, he will find enlarged opportunities for victory over sickness, sin, and inharmonies of every kind, which are all false beliefs. Because of his endeavors to use the truth he is assimilating, his progress will be sure, and he will see the fruits of his work in healing and regeneration.

Activity becomes more fruitful when one overcomes a sense of barrenness and futility in oneself and when one does not accept as legitimate for others sickness, lack, limitation, or any other form of discord. Our application of the truth, insofar as we understand it, brings spiritual enlightenment and healing. Thus is revealed to us the fact that because God is All-in-all, man's real spiritual activity is to express Him and that this activity cannot for one moment be interrupted by the false claims of materialism in whatever guise they are presented.

The student who has learned to demonstrate Christian Science in his own experience soon finds a growing urge to help others who are turning to its teachings for healing. On page 366 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy explains that the first step the metaphysician must take in healing is to purify his own thinking. She continues, "But heal he cannot, while his own spiritual barrenness debars him from giving drink to the thirsty and hinders him from reaching his patient's thought,—yea, while mental penury chills his faith and understanding." The heart that is overflowing with love and affection for mankind, based on a spiritual understanding of man's relationship to God, cannot long be the abiding place of barrenness, futility, and fruitless activity!

To do a thing in vain would indicate a lack of result, thus presenting a false or deceptive picture of achievement, where, in fact, there is none. The suggestion that our work can be in vain, or unfruitful, is a very subtle one. Its lying nature is exposed by an understanding of the third commandment. We read (Ex. 20:7), "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain." This may be seen as a positive statement, for when we understand that man is the son of God, it is impossible to claim our oneness with the Father in vain, that is, without bringing forth the fruits of our prayer in health, happiness, joy, and freedom. By entertaining doubts on this point, we forfeit our right to be found guiltless, free from sickness and sin.

We gain dominion over evil by knowing that man, made in the spiritual image and likeness of God, cannot err—cannot break the Commandments—because man is always at the point of perfection, reflecting the Father and being obedient to spiritual law. By our humility, by our recognition that we are at all times at one with God, we have strength to stand for Truth.

What of the apathy which would cause us to accept as legitimate an impoverished state in our branch Church of Christ, Scientist? The alert Christian Scientist is actively on guard against such a suggestion and is establishing in his thought the truth of the situation, that the spiritual idea, Church, cannot for one moment include poverty in its manifestation. If our branch church needs to be better filled at its services and in its Sunday School, the remedy lies in the spiritualization of the thought of the church members.

Our individual experience will not seem empty and useless when we realize that one who is seeing the abundance of God's love and goodness reflected in his fellow men provides no place in his thought for loneliness, uselessness, emptiness, unemployment, or depression. In the Manual of The Mother Church by Mrs. Eddy we read (Art. VIII, Sect. 15), "God requires our whole heart, and He supplies within the wide channels of The Mother Church dutiful and sufficient occupation for all its members." Let us be sure that we are not prevented from doing our right work.

The Mother Church, which is a testimonial to the great affection and activity of our Leader, is ever enfolding mankind in its love. The alert student is awake to the subtle suggestion which by presenting a false picture of self-satisfaction based on pride and mortal mind reasoning would try to detach him from the good which is rightfully his.

Mrs. Eddy tells us in Miscellany (p. 213): "The natural fruits of Christian Science Mind-healing are harmony, brotherly love, spiritual growth and activity. The malicious aim of perverted mind-power, or animal magnetism, is to paralyze good and give activity to evil." She adds in the next paragraph, "Be ever on guard against this enemy."

It is thought by some Bible students that the purpose of Jesus' parable of the withered fig tree was to illustrate the fruitlessness of the religious activity of his time. In the eleventh chapter of Mark's Gospel we read that when Jesus and his disciples were on the way from Bethany to Jerusalem, Jesus saw a fig tree with leaves on it, which signified that it should be bearing fruit. Jesus went to it only to find that although it was in full leaf, it had no fruit. This tree was not fulfilling its promise, and because of its vanity, its lack of fruition, it had no reason to exist. Thus is illustrated the worthlessness of falsely presenting a picture of usefulness and activity where none exists.

We may compare the fig tree with the unsatisfactory state which Jesus found soon afterward in the temple at Jerusalem. For we read: "Jesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves. . . . And he taught, saying unto them, Is it not written, My house shall be called of all nations the house of prayer?"

The Church of Christ, Scientist, is, indeed, a house of prayer. By its healing and regenerating activity, it is overthrowing the beliefs of materialism, which would try to induce mankind to believe they have a rightful place in human consciousness.

We can ensure right activity in our own lives, and we shall see fruitful and constructively active work in our church, as we understand the allness of God, good, and realize the nothingness of evil. As a result of spiritual growth, we awaken to a recognition of man's unity with God and demonstrate this unity in our individual experience by relinquishing all false ambition and the desire for personal praise. Then we can with childlike trust rely on Him to direct and govern all our activities. In fact, one finds a sense of right and fruitful activity when one's basic motive is to serve God.

A young student of Christian Science who served in the Armed Forces during World War II was temporarily in a state of physical and mental inactivity occasioned by a form of neurosis. By the study and application of what true activity and work are, as understood in Christian Science, the student realized that when one really sees himself as the reflection of God, mental or physical strain is not experienced, however arduous one's work may be. The realization of this truth ultimately brought about a complete healing and led to the natural unfoldment of good and activity in the student's whole experience. Thus was proved the fruitfulness of understanding spiritual activity.

By increasing our spiritual activity, we become less cumbered with materiality, and we find that we are fulfilling in some measure Paul's requirement (Col. 1:10), "Walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God."

"ELOQUENT SILENCE"

PETER B. VANDERHOEF

HOW important to the Christian Scientist are moments of quiet communion with God! Indeed, individuals experience healing and regeneration as their thinking is inspired with the spiritual facts of true being. For as one grasps the true meaning of his sonship with God, his thinking and his life witness the goodness and normality that belong to him as God's expression.

Mary, the mother of Jesus, glimpsed the spiritual nature of God's creation, and we read in the Scriptures that she kept and pondered in her heart the truths she knew. The human birth of Jesus bore witness to Mary's spiritual understanding of the fatherhood of God and the Christliness of sonship with Him.

Our Leader, Mrs. Eddy, writing of the Christmas season, alludes to "eloquent silence" and other spiritual qualities of thought that evidence spirituality. She says (Miscellany, p. 262), "I love to observe Christmas in quietude, humility, benevolence, charity, letting good will towards man, eloquent silence, prayer, and praise express my conception of Truth's appearing."

The words "eloquent silence" might seem to some to be contradictory. Part of a dictionary definition of "eloquent" is "vividly or movingly expressive or revealing."

When brought before Pilate and accused by the chief priests and elders, Christ Jesus was eloquently silent. The Master was at peace, for he knew that law and justice are of God and that God alone governs. Pilate marveled at his conduct. Then in these words Jesus explained his meekness and might (John 19:11): "Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above."

The Christian Scientist understands that in order for one to be eloquently silent, his consciousness must be filled with Truth and Love. As one becomes inspired by spiritual reality, it is easier for him to cease believing the testimony of supposititious mortal sense. As he awakens to his real selfhood in God's likeness, he is no longer deceived by his so-called mortal personality. The silent knowing that is based upon the spiritual sense of God's creation brings to one the realization that his real nature includes such spiritual qualities as steadfastness, freedom, and harmony.

The student of Christian Science learns that the Christlikeness which the Master expressed was not his alone, but is the real nature of every one of the sons of God. The spiritual understanding of the infinite nature of God expressed by man enables one to stand, even if humanly alone, silently inspired by the facts of Spirit and unmoved by the mortal appearance of many minds and conflicting opinions.

One is taught in Science to refrain from unnecessary words or erroneous thoughts even amidst human differences and to see to it that his thinking expresses the love, praise, and joy of real being. Discordant human relationships can be healed as one elevates his sense of man through Truth and expresses the qualities of divine Love. When one overcomes evil with good and resentment with the grace of Spirit, he feels the peace and calm that accompany spiritual thinking, and he is freed from fear, inward resentment, or other unsaid evil thoughts.

In human experience an individual demonstrates the force of true character through the pouring out of patience and deep loving-kindness as well as by good deeds. One must subjugate human will and self-justification in order to eliminate from his experience situations that seem unyielding. He must work consistently and steadfastly to manifest the unity of his real being with God in order to demonstrate the healing influence of "eloquent silence." The individual's expression of Christlike qualities heals, corrects, and adjusts human difficulties.

St. Paul obviously understood the need of mankind to further their sense of the ever-present Christ through quietness. He knew the blessings that come from moments that call for Christliness. He declared (Gal. 5:22, 23), "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."

One can turn every challenge into a blessing by silently renewing his outlook and thinking thoughts which are in accord with the underlying spiritual reality of things. One must think good thoughts to demonstrate good; he must feel the harmony of real being to experience it; he must see and acknowledge the good in man for it to become apparent. The spiritually minded individual can do this since good only is real, and evil in all its guises is nothing more than an illusion of so-called mortal sense, or a mistaken view of real being.

The Apostle Peter emphasized the importance of keeping one's unseen thoughts and desires in strict accordance with divine law. In speaking of adornments, he said (I Pet. 3:4), "Let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price."

When an individual is enthusiastic in his desire to help another in Science or to let the world know the great truths of Christian Science, it is often wise for him to rely upon inspired spiritual thinking instead of on verbal enthusiasm. This silence, governed by wisdom, allows one's thought to mature spiritually and to grasp the great facts of spiritual being. Such a spiritually enlightened and Christlike consciousness enables one to bless all within the range of his thought.

Shepherds in the Field

KATHRYN PAULSON

There were shepherds in the field
On that Christmas night
When the heavenly host appeared,
Robed in radiant light;

Humble keepers of the sheep,
Children of the earth,
Yet they heard the heralding
Of the Saviour's birth.

Exultant swelled the heavenly strain
On Judaea's hill,
Tender rang the angel theme—
Glory, peace, good will!

Shepherds in the realm of thought,
Listen, watch, and pray.
Let angels guide you to the Christ
On this Christmas Day!

DEMONSTRATING SPIRITUAL SELFHOOD NOW

MARZEE G. HARRISON

A RICH inheritance awaits those who accept this reassuring statement found in the Bible (I John 3:2): "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

The spiritual truth of this statement is made practical through the teachings of Christian Science. Instead of accepting mortal selfhood as reality, Christian Science reveals man as the spiritual image and likeness of God. It teaches the falsity of the mortal concept of man as beginning and ending in matter. Instead of viewing himself and others from the standpoint of mortal personality, background, and physicality, the Christian Scientist is proving his own and others' individuality to be the reflection of God, who is defined by Science as Principle, Mind, Soul, Spirit, Life, Truth, Love.

Knowing that spiritual man, one's true selfhood, reflects every Godlike quality, one can daily enlarge and enrich one's capacity for good, for man has an unlimited inheritance of divine wisdom, ability, strength, and love. As one accepts the fact that he is now the son of God, he can joyously expect to experience the good which flows freely from God, the Father. Understanding the inseparability of God and man and obeying the laws of God, one can gain freedom from self-imposed bondage to the material senses, and he can demonstrate man's God-given dominion.

Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 258): "Mortals have a very imperfect sense of the spiritual man and of the infinite range of his thought. To him belongs eternal Life. Never born and never dying, it were impossible for man, under the government of God in eternal Science, to fall from his high estate." It is an "imperfect sense of the spiritual man and of the infinite range of his thought," then, that causes the individual to believe that he is a mortal derived from human parents and that consequently he is governed by laws of mortality. Through failure to see himself as in reality the son of God, he limits his health, his happiness, and his achievements.

Every experience in which the human yields to the divine is one in which spiritual identity is revealed and the material concept proven unreal and powerless. As a person becomes increasingly aware of the spiritual facts of man and the universe and is willing to undertake regeneration, he discovers that home, family, business, and concordant human relationships represent spiritual existence, understood and demonstrated.

It was the mission of the great Wayshower, Christ Jesus, to reveal to humanity man's real, spiritual individuality and to show men how to bear witness to it even while to the senses they are dwelling in the flesh. The Master revealed not only the spiritual status of man, but man's relationship to God and to his fellow man. He taught and proved man's dominion over all the earth. The Master always identified himself as the Son of God or as the Son of man, but never as the son of Mary. Even in boyhood, he apparently never allowed himself to put his human duties ahead of his service to God. At the age of twelve he asked Mary and Joseph, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?" (Luke 2:49.)

Jesus saw that humanity's need was to awaken from a material sense of creation. He saw that family relationships can be truly happy and harmonious only when God is acknowledged as the Father of all. He said (Matt. 23:9), "Call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven." And at another time he stated (Mark 3:35), "Whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister, and mother."

These declarations of Jesus did not make him unloving toward his own family, however. He demonstrated man's spiritual selfhood in such a way as to bring peace, health, harmony, and supply to all who turned to him for help. Jesus lifted human relationships above the personal into a closer unity with and a clearer understanding of God's government.

Today those who wish to know themselves as the sons of God must follow Jesus' example. If they do this, they will never find themselves lonely, nor will they confine their concern for the welfare of others exclusively to the members of their own family. Those who feel burdened, stifled, frustrated, overworked, or even unduly satisfied in human relationships and pursuits can prove that God, the Father, governs all through eternal laws of love and justice. Thus will individuals be lifted to a higher basis from which to work out human situations harmoniously.

As one sees himself as the beneficiary of eternal Life, he can never think of himself or anyone else as being too young or too old to express man's eternal, perfect nature, as well as his spiritual ability and usefulness. Every human duty, demand, and responsibility can be met more easily and harmoniously through the reflection of spiritual selfhood and by the endeavor to identify others as actually ideas of God.

Christ Jesus exemplified harmonious selfhood more fully than any other has done. We must follow his precepts and example until we fully express true Christliness. As we cherish the desire to see, to know, and to be the man of God's creating, we shall find straight and clear the way that leads out of mortal sense into the spiritual and eternal kingdom of God. Giving up mortal sense testimony, we shall gain the imperishable evidence of spiritual reality.

Mrs. Eddy has made it abundantly clear that humanity must learn to see the spiritual, real man, to understand him, and to express him. This great work is ours, and it is not finished until human consciousness is completely purified. Christian Science is not merely a healing agent for humanity's woes; it is the means by which mankind may awaken from all phases of the belief of life and death in matter.

Every appearance of material sensuousness claiming identity and reality must give place to the active spiritual fact of being. Sickness and the pains of sense are not real. They merely indicate the absence of an understanding of the allness of God and the perfection of His son. When the spiritual facts are known and understood, they bring release from physical discord and limitation.

Not only must one know his true self, God's likeness, but he must discern and reject the errors pertaining to the false, mortal self. In "Retrospection and Introspection," Mrs. Eddy gives us a helpful passage on page 86. She writes: "Art thou still unacquainted with thyself? Then be introduced to this self. 'Know thyself!' as said the classic Grecian motto. Note well the falsity of this mortal self! Behold its vileness, and remember this poverty-stricken 'stranger that is within thy gates.' Cleanse every stain from this wanderer's soiled garments, wipe the dust from his feet and the tears from his eyes, that you may behold the real man, the fellow-saint of a holy household. There should be no blot on the escutcheon of our Christliness when we offer our gift upon the altar."

We should deal with mortal selfhood from the scientific standpoint of its unreality until spiritual manhood is revealed. God loves all His children. Reflecting glorious, limitless Love, human beings will find comfort and assurance for themselves and thus learn to comfort others, not through words alone, but by the recognition of divine Love as an active force to meet the human need.

To know the perfection and strength of spiritual man is indeed the most precious gift that has been given to humanity. To use this spiritual knowledge in such a way as to bring freedom from sin, disease, and death, until every vestige of mortality has given place to immortality, is a sacred duty. The understanding of spiritual selfhood as the son of God makes it possible for each individual to begin demonstrating the infinite range of his capabilities right now.

BE YE HOLY

WILLIAM LITTLE

HOLINESS is a state of consciousness which each individual may claim as his own. The Bible makes this clear in the message which Moses received from God (Lev. 19:2), "Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy."

In effect Christ Jesus repeated this demand to his followers in his Sermon on the Mount. He said (Matt. 5:48), "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." In Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy writes of this instruction of the Master (pp. 253, 254): "The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect,' is scientific, and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable. Individuals are consistent who, watching and praying, can 'run, and not be weary; . . . walk, and not faint,' who gain good rapidly and hold their position, or attain slowly and yield not to discouragement."

The necessity to be holy has been maintained through the ages. In this present age Christian Scientists are called upon to be especially obedient to the full intent of the Master's application of holiness or perfection, for in Christian Science the concept of perfect health is inseparable from the spiritual state of holiness. This is clearly demonstrated in the Master's actions in healing the sick.

It is interesting to note that the English words, "holy," "health," and "whole," all came originally from the same Anglo-Saxon word. However, Christian Science does not base its position regarding the nature of holiness on the derivation of these words in the English language, but, as previously indicated, it primarily receives its authority for its position and demonstration on the words and works of Christ Jesus. It also takes into consideration the spiritual instructions of the Hebrew prophets, who preceded Jesus, and of the apostles and disciples, as recorded in the New Testament.

As an aid in taking the human footsteps, our Leader assures us that the goal of holiness is capable of being achieved by all. She writes (ibid., p. 261), "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionably to their occupancy of your thoughts." One must not hold matter in thought. He must keep his thought on spiritual perfection rather than on material so-called possibilities, mortal opinions, or the sense testimony of evil.

It is important to consider what is the criteria for discerning what is really good, enduring, and true. The answer is found in the Bible and in the study of Christian Science. Throughout the Scriptures and throughout the writings of Mrs. Eddy and the authorized publications of The Christian Science Publishing Society, the central theme is putting God first in one's life and loving one's neighbor as oneself. The Master expressed it perfectly (Mark 12:30, 31): "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."

It is obvious that what one loves, one thinks about. One seeks the company of loved ones and tries to make himself pleasing to them. It also appears to be true that one humanly thinks and talks about those things or persons one fears or dislikes. However, if one loves God with all his mind and all his soul and all his strength, such devotion leaves no thought with which to give reality to those things which are the opposite of God.

Certainly, fears and dislikes are not Godlike. To love God in the way Jesus counseled is to be obedient to God's commandments and laws. One accepts God as Love and recognizes that He is good and that He creates or permits only that which is good. This does not mean that one ignores evil; it means that he sees through evil's false claim to be something and thus recognizes its nothingness.

One way to discover what one is really thinking about is to consider what one talks about. Jesus indicated the wisdom of this consideration when he stated (Matt. 15:18–20): "Those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man. For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: these are the things which defile a man." It was obvious to Jesus that before one could perform evil, the evil had to be thought. Such evil thinking and speaking were what defiled one—robbed him of his holiness.

Conversely, it should be clear that if one holds his thought to the enduring, the good, and the true, as Christian Science teaches, good ideas must come forth in conversation. One cannot think and talk of disaster, disease, and difficulties if he is holding his thought on the things of God.

Universal thought believes that there are certain calamities, diseases, and what are termed "acts of nature" which cannot be controlled. However, the Scriptures record instances in which, as the result of prayer or spiritual thought alone, a storm was stilled, the effect of accidents annulled, and disease healed. The spiritually minded individual sees through the erroneous human concept that believes in evil.

In the effort to be holy it is well to see that one's conversation is constructive. To ensure that one's verbal expressions are examples of beauty, health, gentleness, love, it is necessary that the thoughts of the heart be on such subjects. It takes alertness to see the truth of holiness, but by loving holiness, desiring holiness, and striving to hold one's thought to the good, one expresses good. One also understands that his neighbor has not only the privilege of evidencing holiness, but the right to do so even if the neighbor does not understand that fact.

As one contemplates a meeting with a friend, business colleague, relative, or acquaintance, it is well to be alert to the possibilities of constructive, healthful conversation and to the actualities of the enduring, the good, and the true. When one's thought is in harmony with spiritual Truth, one may be able to direct the conversation constructively without its being obvious, thereby experiencing and sharing good. On the other hand, if one feels it wise to keep quiet during conversations about illness or other inharmonies, he need not accept them as true. He can hold his thought on the truth of God's good government, wherein there is no provision for discord of any kind.

Sometimes the argument comes that failure to agree with conversations about inharmony renders one cold, indifferent, or unsympathetic. The Master gave a beautiful example of silencing such an argument of mortal mind pleading for sympathetic acceptance of mortal cares. It is recorded in Luke that when Martha asked Jesus to speak to her sister Mary to have the latter turn her thought and efforts to material cares, he said (10:41, 42), "Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things: but one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her." Clearly Martha sought sympathy, and she must have been surprised to learn that the Master felt that Mary was the one to be commended.

In obedience to the intent of Jesus' words, the student of Christian Science directs his thought to "that good part," as did Mary. He is determined to understand the truth of God's perfection, for he understands that this process brings good into his experience and into the experience of others. He dares to think of himself and of his neighbor as having only God-bestowed qualities. He understands that it is his privilege to hold his thought in line with this course. As he does so, he beholds and experiences a holiness that is at one with God.

DEFENDING OUR HERITAGE

OLIVIA PUTNAM WHITTAKER

MANKIND appear to exist in a world where devilish forces constantly threaten their well-being, but students of Christian Science find in the following Scriptural promise a spiritual power that shields them from the presumptuous claims of evil: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (Ps. 91:1). As one becomes acquainted with the teachings of Christian Science, he begins to realize that the protecting power embodied in this passage is not remote, but is found right at hand, within his own spiritualized consciousness.

According to Christ Jesus, God, the Most High, is Spirit. "The secret place," therefore, is purely spiritual. It is the consciousness in which divine Mind, Love, is seen to be supreme. It is the boundless realm of harmony, or the kingdom of heaven, in which man's true being as the expression of God abides forever. This spiritual consciousness is the most sacred of sanctuaries and the most precious of dwellings. The revelation of Christian Science is lighting the way, for those who will, to attain the present realization of this divine heritage.

Material theories of life utterly contradict the fact that man exists in Spirit instead of matter. These theories are often used in an attempt to disprove divinely scientific thought and even to undermine its very foundations. Hence there is a necessity in Christian Science for defending one's spiritual dwelling place.

Mrs. Eddy writes in "Pulpit and Press" (p. 2): "The real house in which 'we live, and move, and have our being' is Spirit, God, the eternal harmony of infinite Soul. The enemy we confront would overthrow this sublime fortress, and it behooves us to defend our heritage." Then she continues: "How can we do this Christianly scientific work? By intrenching ourselves in the knowledge that our true temple is no human fabrication, but the superstructure of Truth, reared on the foundation of Love, and pinnacled in Life."

Is not the enemy we confront really lack of true self-knowledge? Does not our protection from harm lie in true self-identification? In "Miscellaneous Writings" by our Leader we read (p. 8): "Can height, or depth, or any other creature separate you from the Love that is omnipresent good,—that blesses infinitely one and all? Simply count your enemy to be that which defiles, defaces, and dethrones the Christ-image that you should reflect."

Christian Science teaches that because man is the image and likeness of God, he is spiritual and perfect. He is not, then, a fragment in a material world. He is not a finite entity which is caged in matter. He is not a mortal, with a mind of his own, surrounded by millions of other mortals. He is not a limited, dissatisfied, lonely person who can become harassed by evil forces over which he has no control. Man, created by God, is the radiant reflection of infinite Love. Thus he is always fetterless and free. He is birthless, ageless, and deathless.

As we entrench ourselves in the knowledge that our true selfhood is living and moving in Spirit instead of in matter, we increasingly lose sight of the belief that there are material forces directed against us. True self-knowledge reveals the inviolable fact that in reality there is no evil power to obstruct man's life, interfere with the harmony of his being, disturb his peace, or destroy his health.

In the proportion that we perceive the unreality of evil and the infinite reality of good, evil will fade and disappear from our experience. Therefore let us refuse to respond or react to error's clamor for life. Let us assiduously reject its claim to mesmerize, discourage, or depress our thought. If we do, it will have no power over us. In the Bible we read (James 4:7), "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you." In this way evil is scientifically handled.

The alert student of Christian Science learns that when he is faced with evil's claims he is never contending with real external powers, existing in opposition to God's almighty power, but with false mental suggestions parading as his own thought; therefore he must work to reduce these suggestions to nothingness, using true self-knowledge as his basis. As he does so, any false belief of pain, fear, doubt, misunderstanding, or hatred will disappear from his spiritually enlightened thought as surely as the darkness disappears with the coming of the dawn.

Therefore, if one is led to believe that he is being hemmed in by physical or mental restrictions or hedged about by impenetrable barriers of human circumstances and limited material conditions, or if one feels himself a target for the shafts of hatred or any other weapon of evil, could it be that he is not defending his heritage? Has he not forgotten to answer the question, "Can height, or depth, or any other creature separate you from the Love that is omnipresent good,—that blesses infinitely one and all?" Let this one entrench himself once again in the knowledge that his true being is not mortal and material, but the reflection of divine Love, "pinnacled in Life," and therefore safely abiding "under the shadow of the Almighty."

No matter what evil is claiming for us or for our world, true self-consciousness is our sublime fortress; it is "the secret place" from which we can distinguish the spuriousness of an enemy, its nowhereness, its fabulous nothingness. We can face all human difficulties with quiet assurance instead of fear, with equanimity and poise instead of excitement. The tension, pressure, stress and strain, of worldly commotions will have no hold on us. Thus we begin to prove the statement of Christ Jesus (John 14:30), "The prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me."

Realization of the present verity of the foregoing statement and individual application of it constitute our refuge from all the seeming evil in the world and supply sovereign power to stand unafraid in defending our heritage.

"THE SPIRITUAL MATHEMATICS"

EDWIN M. CALLENDER

THOSE attracted to Christian Science find that it gives them something solid to cling to and implants in them a positive reliance on God for the first time in their experience, perhaps. Through study of Christian Science they learn positive rules which, when obeyed, remove human discords, establish harmony, and lead to demonstration of perfection.

Mathematics furnishes in the exactness of its laws and rules a good analogy to the teachings of Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy uses mathematical examples to point up truths she reveals and to emphasize the infallibility of the healing power of divine Principle, Love. Under the marginal heading, "The spiritual mathematics," she writes in Science and Health (p. 3): "Who would stand before a blackboard, and pray the principle of mathematics to solve the problem? The rule is already established, and it is our task to work out the solution. Shall we ask the divine Principle of all goodness to do His own work? His work is done, and we have only to avail ourselves of God's rule in order to receive His blessing, which enables us to work out our own salvation."

The analogy to mathematics is useful, because only by using the rules correctly can we obtain a correct solution. Imperfect work leads to error; yet in Christian Science as in mathematics a check or test can be applied to verify an answer. The Apostle John wrote (I John 4:1, 6): "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God. . . . Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error."

In Christian Science, error has to be handled and proved false and powerless. Is it not apparent in arithmetic that although there is just one correct solution to a given problem, any number of incorrect answers may be believed? Error's very claim to existence can find space only in mortal thought that is duped by it. Evil is error in its highest degree. Error is no more a part of God's creation than it is a part of mathematics. Enlightened thought has the capacity to detect error instantly and to erase it with truth.

A young student of Christian Science found while studying Science and Health that there are in the textbook literally hundreds of rules for living. For example, on page 495 there are four such rules in one paragraph. The first reads, "When the illusion of sickness or sin tempts you, cling steadfastly to God and His idea." Here not only is the rule given but also a statement of the problem, namely that it is an illusion. It often happens in applied mathematics that the chief difficulty lies in obtaining an exact statement of the problem itself.

Do Christian Scientists sometimes think in terms too limiting? That our Leader always held a wide, spiritual vision is seen in the order, continuity, and facets of the religion she discovered and founded as well as in the wonderful healing works emanating from it.

Mrs. Eddy's meticulous exactness may be shown in the following. An engineer was once puzzled by the word "duodecillions," which she uses in the following statement (ibid., p. 108): "My conclusions were reached by allowing the evidence of this revelation to multiply with mathematical certainty and the lesser demonstration to prove the greater, as the product of three multiplied by three, equalling nine, proves conclusively that three times three duodecillions must be nine duodecillions,—not a fraction more, not a unit less."

He thought that duodecillions must be large and could be likened, perhaps, to the grains of sand along an extensive seashore. Some very fine sand was obtained, and unit volume was counted. The engineer calculated the extent in a duodecillion, and amazement gave place to awe upon learning that a beach of duodecillion grains of sand could be almost any depth, and if, for example, one mile deep and one thousand miles wide, would stretch from the earth so far past the sun as to make the latter appear as a little star from the other end.

This calculation shows that despite the vastness of nine such extensive reaches there is not one unit, grain, more nor one less than mathematically assigned. But the more important lesson that the engineer learned was that lesser demonstrations prove the healing rule of divine Principle just as surely as the larger ones and thus pave the way to greater works.

The Christian Scientist can discern spiritually the infinitude of God and the vastness of His creation in many ways. Was it not the Psalmist's awareness of it that inspired him to say (Ps. 139:17, 18): "How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand."

Christian Science is demonstrable to all who use it. Even with an elementary level of understanding of it, the application of the truths of divine Science brings blessing. Should a healing of disease not come promptly, the student is free to turn for help to an experienced Christian Science practitioner. Working in Science is neither tedious nor toilsome. However, thought must be freed from resistance to truth and to good in order to be receptive to the answers received through prayer.

Higher mathematics is necessarily based on the simpler rules of arithmetic and algebra. Yet in higher mathematics the vision is more expansive, and there is a wider scope of application. The earnest student of Christian Science is ever seeking to understand the higher or more advanced rules of this Science that he may follow the example of the Master in feeding the multitudes, healing the sick instantaneously, and raising the dead.

The infinite individuality of God is expressed in the oneness, or unity, of His perfect, universal creation. Understood, this oneness binds nations in universal brotherhood. This thread of oneness can be explained by one's employing a mathematical simile or analogy. When any characteristic number is multiplied or divided by unity, its individuality is not changed. Multiplied by any number other than one, its individuality would be different. The foregoing illustrates the truth that all real identity is associated with absolute unity, or oneness.

Jesus said of his followers, "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us" (John 17:20, 21). To believe is to understand good, and this in turn brings the realization that in the unfolding unity of one creator and one creation error becomes nought. Divine Principle, Love, is One.

GETTING OUT OF THE BOAT

JESSIE H. CASE

IN a Lesson-Sermon in the Christian Science Quarterly, there appeared the story of Dorcas, a woman of Joppa, who, as the Bible states, "was full of good works and almsdeeds which she did" (Acts 9:36), but who became sick and died. Peter was at Lydda, not far away, and the disciples sent for him. Answering the call, Peter—that disciple whose impulsive, vacillating, undependable nature had in the past caused him many moments of grief and anguish as he tried to follow Jesus—calmly, confidently, and understandingly prayed and raised Dorcas from the dead.

A student of Christian Science who was reading this Lesson-Sermon was filled with a deeply reverent sense of gratitude for the lesson contained in this incident. She went over in her thought the life of Simon Peter as told in the New Testament. She recalled his recognition of Jesus as "the Christ, the Son of the living God" (Matt. 16:16), a recognition which won for him the new name of Peter, meaning "a rock." She remembered his impetuous attempt to walk on the water as his Master was doing; his thrice-expressed denial of Jesus in the courtyard of the high priest's palace; his eager joy at seeing Jesus on the shore of the Galilean Sea.

All these incidents came to the student's thought. And, thinking back over them, the incident of Peter's attempt to walk on the water seemed to stand out most clearly. The student realized that on the wonderful occasion when Jesus went to the disciples, walking on the water, Peter's understanding must have risen momentarily to the point where he could perceive that it was Jesus' reflection of the Christ-power, and not his human personality, which had enabled him to heal the sick and perform the so-called miracles. Apparently Peter saw in a degree that if this was so, then this power was for all to understand and use and was therefore for him. And, perhaps, the student thought, he was most ready to perceive it because he had been tripped so many times by his own impetuosity, the unreliability of his own personal judgment. That may have been why Peter, of all the disciples, said to Jesus, "Bid me come unto thee on the water" (Matt. 14:28).

But before he could accept the Master's invitation to "come," Peter had to get out of the boat. As the student saw it, he had to give up his belief in a selfhood apart from God, in the ability of human personality to obscure the infinite possibilities of the Christ.

As the student pondered the account of Peter's restoring Dorcas to life, she felt a sense of awe at the transformation which had taken place in the life of the once impetuous disciple. Could anything be more wonderful or suggest a grander lesson!

Mrs. Eddy says in Miscellany (p. 12), "We own no past, no future, we possess only now." The truth of God's allness, His infinite perfection, and of man's continuing oneness, as reflection, with this infinite perfection is forever present and forever true.

No one need stay under a cloud of self-condemnation because of past mistakes; nor need he accept the suggestion that he is not good enough to be a Christian Scientist, that he lacks the ability to demonstrate Christian Science, or that his progress is so slow that he might as well give up. Let him remember Peter, who might well have been overwhelmed by many taunting suggestions.

Those who are in despair over having committed some sin so great in their estimation as to be beyond forgiveness should remember that Peter, though he denied the Christ, rose to a point of understanding sufficient to raise the dead. By this accomplishment, he proved that he had risen to the understanding of eternal life, risen to understand the power of "the Christ, the Son of the living God."

The writer at one time found herself committed by previous arrangement to a task which, when the time came to perform it, seemed almost beyond human ability to carry through. However, she had always felt that when required to do some legitimate and right thing, she must meet the demand and expect the necessary ability to be forthcoming.

The performance was to take place on a certain evening, and a four-hour rehearsal was to precede it. In the morning the student awoke feeling quite ill in addition to a physical incapacity that had developed since her promise to undertake the role. However, she went to the rehearsal as planned. Because of the physical incapacity, she found it difficult to comprehend the instructions given or to carry them out when comprehended. In fact, she felt that her own part in the proceedings could not help being a complete failure.

As she turned to God for help, she realized that this was her opportunity to prove that she did not need to be healed of anything real. She needed only to lose her belief that she ever had had or ever could have a selfhood apart from God. As she pondered this truth, right ideas flooded her consciousness. When she went back for the evening, she was greatly comforted. Before leaving home, she had asked for the help of a practitioner. As she waited for the time when she would have to go onto the platform, she became more and more calm and relaxed. The whole burden of fear and anxiety completely vanished, and a sense of freedom, joy, and perfect ease prevailed. She enjoyed the evening and was almost sorry when it was over.

Sooner or later we all must get out of the boat—relinquish the belief in a selfhood apart from God, belief in the ability of human personality to fetter, to obstruct, or to obscure the infinite possibilities of the Christ and our own reflected, God-derived ability to express these infinite possibilities.

In "Miscellaneous Writings," Mrs. Eddy says (p. 185), "Self-renunciation of all that constitutes a so-called material man, and the acknowledgment and achievement of his spiritual identity as the child of God, is Science that opens the very flood-gates of heaven; whence good flows into every avenue of being, cleansing mortals of all uncleanness, destroying all suffering, and demonstrating the true image and likeness."

SUPPORTING OUR CHURCH

DONALD R. LANE

THERE is great need in the world of today for the message of Christian Science, a message filled with the hopeful encouragement of a completely practical Christianity. The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and its branches in many parts of the world are engaged in presenting the Science of Christianity to mankind.

The alert church member is keenly interested in doing all that he can to protect and advance his church in its healing ministry. He sees his church as a beacon in the community, lighting the way for those who, weary of the world's methods and empty rewards, are seeking a truly spiritual Christianity.

This demonstrable, scientific Christianity, which is in accord with the teachings of Christ Jesus, is clearly set forth in Science and Health by Mrs. Eddy. In this book our Leader defines "Church" thus (p. 583):

"The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from divine Principle.

"The Church is that institution, which affords proof of its utility and is found elevating the race, rousing the dormant understanding from material beliefs to the apprehension of spiritual ideas and the demonstration of divine Science, thereby casting out devils, or error, and healing the sick."

In the first paragraph Mrs. Eddy defines Church as a spiritual idea. In the second paragraph she defines the institution which presents the true idea of Church to the world.

One student of Christian Science, when doing prayerful work for his branch church, was led to consider the Biblical account of the widow who approached the prophet Elisha. This woman was in want; in fact, the situation was so critical that the creditor was about to take her two sons as bondmen. Elisha asked (II Kings 4:2), "What shall I do for thee? tell me, what hast thou in the house?"

The widow replied, "Thine handmaid hath not any thing in the house, save a pot of oil."

Christian Scientists may well be gratefully cognizant of what they have "in the house" to offer mankind. They have much to offer. Their churches are usually beautiful; they are fitting visible signs of the idea, Church. Their Sunday Schools are usually well staffed with dedicated teachers. They have consecrated Readers, and the well-trained soloists and organists contribute to the church services. But the churches offer much more than this. They make available a demonstrable understanding of the Christ. On page 583 of Science and Health, our Leader defines "Christ" as "the divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnate error."

Mankind today stand in great need of the Christ, because it is only through this "divine manifestation of God" that the problems of mankind, individually and collectively, can be correctly solved. The challenge confronting the student of Christian Science is this: How can he introduce the Christ to the world in such a way that those who have not already done so will turn to the Saviour, the healing and redemptive power of Christ, Truth?

The glory of the Christ appears as the student demonstrates the qualities of God, which were lived by Jesus. Some of these Christly qualities of thought which can always be magnified through increased spirituality are humanity, graciousness, lovingkindness, consideration, dedication, and brotherly love. In fact, the Christ cannot appear in our individual lives until the qualities which Jesus exemplified have been mentally claimed, accepted, and magnified. As these Christly qualities of thought are increasingly strengthened in human thought, the fullness of the Christ becomes more and more evident.

A spiritualized humanity shows forth the divinity of Christ; consecration awakens one to the ever-presence of Christ; dedication to God exalts Christ; while brotherly love opens the way leading to the recognition of God as Father-Mother, the one creator of all.

Not only must the Christian Scientist watch well that he cultivate and bring to full bloom in his thought all Christly qualities, but he must also perceive, demonstrate, and embody the Christ-power which these qualities signify. It is through the member's conscious, constant identification with the Christ that the institution, church, functions harmoniously.

It is helpful to see that the activities of Church may be demonstrated in organizational work through an understanding of the seven synonyms which Mrs. Eddy uses to define God. This demonstration will bless the organization, and it will bless the individual church member.

The institution proves its utility as it evidences the ceaseless activity which has its source in divine Mind. It demonstrates the absolute order, balance, and control of divine Principle in the measure that its members are dedicated to one purpose, the commemoration of the word and works of Christ Jesus. The law-abiding, law-disciplining, law-governing forces of Principle ensure the success of the church in its mission.

The human understanding, slumbering in self-satisfied complacency, is roused by the infinite, penetrating power of Soul. Spiritual intuition, emanating from eternally informing Soul, confers freedom from apathy and blesses the member with the vital consciousness of reality. Understanding the joy and radiance of Soul, each earnest student finds the haven of heaven unfolding to him.

The mighty, scientific activity of God as Spirit enables the receptive thought to grasp spiritual ideas. The omnipotence of Spirit empowers thought to rise higher and higher in the realm of the real. Because of the omnipresence of Spirit, thought grasps man's inseparable unity with God and demonstrates true substance.

Divine Science is demonstrated when God is understood as Life and Life is understood as birthless, ageless, and deathless. Life is continuous and eternal; therefore no phase of its manifestation can be deadened or lack vitality.

The success of the institution, church, in overcoming error is inherent in its foundation—the Rock, Truth. Affirmative, unalterable Truth is ever victorious. Error of any kind must eventually yield to Truth. As the church member builds on this foundation, he finds the security that accompanies activity proceeding from the right basis.

In the writer's own experience he has found that a human sense of success has increased as he has increased his service to his church. When the erroneous suggestions of being too busy have been rejected and more time has been spent in the study, application, and demonstration of Christian Science, there has been a steady unfoldment of good accompanied by greater joy and satisfaction.

One finds healing through membership in the Church of Christ, Scientist, when he understands that God is Love and acts from this standpoint. Universal, impartial Love provides complete protection; it liberates, ministers, chastens, anoints, and heals. The expression of the loveliness of Love is truly irresistible. Each student of Christian Science may well strive to embody the thought expressed in Moses' words (Num. 10:29), "We are journeying unto the place of which the Lord said, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good."

Thus it is seen that the church member can and must reflect the Christly qualities; these will enable him to be purified of self and be filled with dedication and consecration. Then church as a successfully functioning institution will more and more approximate Church as "the structure of Truth and Love," mankind will apprehend man in divine Science, and God will indeed be glorified.

"THE UNDIVIDED GARMENT"

LEAH BOHN

CHRIST JESUS understood God. He understood that God's oneness and allness allowed for no division. He understood God's man to be inseparable from God and likewise inseparable from whatever characterizes the nature and wholeness of God's being.

To the student of Christian Science the description of Christ Jesus' garment as "without seam, woven from the top throughout" (John 19:23), is spiritually significant. It serves as a symbol and points to the Master's Christly character, his spiritual-mindedness, his undeviating goodness, the godliness which he exemplified with utter consistency throughout his experience. This spiritual consistency of thought and action is the healing robe of Christian Science, which brings to men incontestable proofs of the actual wholeness and harmony of being.

More and more, those whose thought has been quickened by the healing touch of the Christly garment of scientific Truth ask: How can I demonstrate this healing power more unfailingly, more completely, more universally?

Spiritual consistency is the answer. Compromise, divided loyalties, mixed premises, vitiate scientific demonstration. Mrs. Eddy declares in Science and Health (p. 242), "The divine Science of man is woven into one web of consistency without seam or rent." And on page 142 she writes, "We must seek the undivided garment, the whole Christ, as our first proof of Christianity, for Christ, Truth, alone can furnish us with absolute evidence."

The spiritual perfection and integrity of God and His creation were always the pattern that determined the thinking, the judgment, and the actions of Christ Jesus. His was not a partial but a whole exemplification of Truth. His love was all-inclusive. His standpoint of spiritual wholeness was to him scientific and unequivocal; it is the standpoint of Christian Science today.

Christ Jesus knew that whatever is real and true is presently demonstrable. To him, "the whole Christ" meant mankind redeemed from disease, limitation, and death as well as from sin. He demonstrated the truth of being by healing all manner of discord.

There is no woe of mankind that does not stem from the belief that man is separated from God and consequently from some aspect of God's providence and wholeness. Does one seem to have lost his health or vigor? Does another believe that he is deprived of or denied the warmth of companionship, of love, of home, or of joy? Or does still another seem to have been cut off from supply and security? Are there those—and are we among them?—who think that there is an unbridgeable rift between men and nations?

Christian Science declares that man has never for an instant been separated from anything that God includes. It reminds us that God is Life, the only Life, infinite and indivisible. In this Life there is no death, no disintegration, no disease.

God is infinite, ever-present Love, cherishing all His ideas and providing them with an infinitude of good. Love's allness and intactness constitute man's security and peace and can be evidenced in the unriven brotherhood of men and the concordance of nations.

The practical and healing value of seeking "the undivided garment, the whole Christ," was experienced by a student of Christian Science. She had attended a Christian Science Sunday School as a child, but in young womanhood she had drifted away from it. After several years of happy married life alarming evidences of personal disunity and inharmony began to be evident. About the same time a distressing physical condition manifested itself, diagnosed as inflammation of the nerves and body tissue.

Faced with a seemingly unavoidable separation and discouraged by the lack of improvement in her physical condition, in spite of the conscientious ministrations of physicians, her thought turned once again to her early Sunday School teaching.

God seemed very far away and the mists of unworthiness and self-condemnation seemed very thick. But her extremity was so great that with humility she sought the help of a Christian Science practitioner. He lovingly reminded her that because God is always present, He was with her. He assured her that because of the intactness of Love, she could not possibly lose anything that constituted the wholeness and happiness of her God-given being. She was asked to study thoroughly all that she could find in the Bible and in Mrs. Eddy's writings that would clarify her thought concerning the oneness and indivisibility of God and His creation and then to put into practice the truths revealed.

She at once began to see the synthetic nature of the mortal theories out of which she had been trying to weave a life of health and happiness. She saw that she had allowed finite personal sense, selfishness, sensitiveness, criticism, and self-righteousness to veil her thought.

She saw that the real fabric of existence is Spirit, and she began to express spiritual-mindedness, unselfishness, love, and consideration in her daily life. She became engrossed in the beauty of holiness unfolding in her consciousness, and this was followed by the spontaneous righting of her domestic problem; so it was some time before she realized that the painful physical condition had disappeared.

The presentation to human thought of the Christly identification of man as inseparable from God is the sacred and redeeming function of Christian Science. As we demonstrate our spiritual sonship with God, Truth obliterates the lies of sin, disease, lack, and death, and clear evidences of health and wholeness appear. Then we echo Isaiah's exultation in the Christly or seamless robe of godliness (Isa. 61:10), "I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness."

ASK GOD

VIOLA M. BARRETT

A NEW student of Christian Science once consulted a practitioner concerning a situation that to human sense demanded an immediate choice of one of several courses of action.

The student listened while the practitioner explained that as a child of God one is already in possession of the divine wisdom and intelligence that are necessary in making right decisions. Mortal beliefs of confusion, uncertainty, and doubt are only false claims that man can be separated from God's love and care.

The thought of the young student became calmer, but as she rose to go, she said, "But what shall I do?"

The practitioner immediately saw that the great need of this student was to be awakened to the fact that in Christian Science right decisions can never be made on the basis of mortal testimony, but only as one listens for God's voice. She said, "A Christian Science practitioner must never act as a personal adviser."

This so alerted the thought of the one seeking help that she was able to turn resolutely away from the problem at hand and to claim God as the only Mind governing the situation. That evening, with no further action on her part, she received an unexpected telephone call that led to what later proved to be the right choice in the matter.

Only by lifting thought out of the realm of material living and dying, the only place where perplexing problems can seem to exist, to God's kingdom of spiritual harmony can we find correct answers. In Proverbs we read (3:5, 6): "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." Implicit obedience to each of these commands does not allow for the keeping of one's eyes fearfully on discord while also looking to Spirit for guidance, but enjoins the rejection of error and a complete turning away from all that is material to the spiritual reality of being.

How often have we sought the help of a practitioner, desiring to know more of the truth that would free us from bondage, but secretly hoping for a word of advice that would lead us to take certain human footsteps! Through our spiritual understanding of divine Mind, God, we learn to know that every situation in which we find ourselves and every circumstance that affects us is in reality subject to the control of divine Love. In God's allness there is no unsupplied need, no sick, sinning, or fearful mortal; there is only the law of Love operating and maintaining harmony.

When the truth has been recognized and established in consciousness, then will come to the receptive thought the spiritual ideas that are necessary to resolve a situation in such a way that all will be blessed.

It is wise often to examine our thinking to assure ourselves that we are seeking aid not merely for the human solution of a problem, but for spiritual enlightenment by Love. The latter must come first, and the healing follows.

Mrs. Eddy, speaking of solicitations made to her by husbands or wives for advice regarding family difficulties, says (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 236), "In such cases we have said, 'Take no counsel of a mortal, even though it be your best friend; but be guided by God alone;' meaning by this, Be not estranged from each other by anything that is said to you, but seek in divine Love the remedy for all human discord." Only after one has turned to divine Love for guidance can decisions be reached that lead to right action.

Words are inadequate to convey to another the needs and desires of the human heart. Only through divine inspiration can the call for help be rightly met. Much of the misunderstanding in the world today results not so much from language barriers as from the inability of peoples and governments to make plain to each other the fears and longings that lie buried too deeply in human consciousness to be expressed in words. The burdened one asking, "What shall I do?" can be comforted by the knowledge that God knows the answer, which will be revealed as patient and practitioner turn completely away from sense testimony to spiritual truths.

From the human standpoint, harmonious living is seldom the simple choice of a right or wrong course of conduct. Many choices are open to us, each presenting good only in a degree. Again our Leader's wisdom is available to us. She states (ibid., p. 289), "From a human standpoint of good, mortals must first choose between evils, and of two evils choose the less; and at present the application of scientific rules to human life seems to rest on this basis."

When the personal sense of ourselves and others has been given up for spiritual reality, and we can say, as did Christ Jesus, "Not my will, but thine, be done" (Luke 22:42), we do not need to fear the consequences of our decisions. We do not need to distrust our judgment when we remember that the Master assured us that those who ask for bread—the bread of Truth—of the Father, will not be given a stone. The courage to go forward demonstrates our understanding of the uninterrupted operation of divine law. We should strengthen our trust in good and encourage ourselves to continue in developing a spiritual understanding of God and man.

A consecrated practitioner knows that human will and wisdom are never adequate to meet the human need. He prays for guidance that he may not be led through a human sense of compassion to direct the human footsteps of others and that he may not be tempted by the immediacy of a need to offer human advice. He has learned that listening for the voice of Truth is necessary to accomplish the healing.

The work of the compassionate practitioner directs our thought to God, in whom we eternally and securely dwell. Our consciousness of this spiritual fact is evidenced in our human experience as we are led to do the right thing at the right time.

THE PERCEPTIVE FACULTIES

MARIANNE WARD

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE declares that it is Mind, not matter, which sees and hears. The material eye does not contain the power of sight, nor can the material ear hold or withhold the ability to hear. This is brought out clearly in the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health, where Mrs. Eddy writes (p. 485): "Science declares that Mind, not matter, sees, hears, feels, speaks. Whatever contradicts this statement is the false sense, which ever betrays mortals into sickness, sin, and death."

We cannot apprehend Deity or discern any of the grand realities of being through the material senses. These senses, confined to the realm of false belief, present merely a counterfeit of the real man and the real universe. This counterfeit is material, temporary, and destructible, even though sometimes beautiful.

By rejecting the false theories about seeing and hearing, evolved by belief, thought is opened to consider the question: "How does Mind, God, see and hear?" Prayerful study of Christian Science will unfold to the student something of the infinitude of God, all-seeing Love, who is ever perceptive of each of His ideas and who is aware of the perfection of His spiritual creation.

Can man, God's image and likeness, see or hear differently from God? In material sense the individual may appear to, but in Science man possesses by reflection the faculties of spiritual discernment, comprehension, and understanding. As the student exercises these perceptive faculties, he sees more clearly what is real and learns how to draw a distinct line between the real and the unreal. Real faculties, focused upon a spiritual rather than a material apprehension of the objects of creation, discern the underlying spiritual reality.

A cultivation of our spiritual senses or faculties is a prerequisite to a practical knowledge of God, man, and the universe. Mrs. Eddy writes (ibid., p. 487): "There is more Christianity in seeing and hearing spiritually than materially. There is more Science in the perpetual exercise of the Mind-faculties than in their loss. Lost they cannot be, while Mind remains. The apprehension of this gave sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf centuries ago, and it will repeat the wonder."

The motive to exercise our spiritual faculties comes of a pure desire to know and love God and the real man of God's creating. The Psalmist put such desire into the prayerful utterance (Ps. 119:18), "Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law."

The need of a pure desire to see and hear spiritually was pointed out by Christ Jesus. He said in one of the Beatitudes (Matt. 5:8), "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." And at another time the Master, in an effort to rouse the perceptive faculties of the disciples, said (Mark 8:17, 18): "Perceive ye not yet, neither understand? have ye your heart yet hardened? Having eyes, see ye not? and having ears, hear ye not?" Though the disciples had seen Jesus perform his wonderful works before their very eyes and their ears had heard the words of Truth that he had spoken to them, still they had not gained a clear perception and an understanding of Truth. Their material senses were incapable of grasping it.

To what extent are we today looking with eyes that perceive not and listening with ears that hear not? Are our hearts yet hardened? Do we love the material more than the spiritual? Are we following the line of least resistance, drifting with the general current of mortal thought? Are we inspired to actuate the spiritually perceptive faculties with which we shall eventually behold a new heaven and a new earth? Or do we waver and partially or wholly accept the testimony of the material senses as valid or perhaps desirable?

In his ministry, Christ Jesus never lost sight of the perfect man, the spiritual reflection of God, no matter what evidence the material senses presented. This true beholding, this discerning of the real, dispelled the illusions of sin, sickness, and all forms of human wretchedness and limitation. Jesus knew that what the material senses present is only an image of mortal thought objectified, an untrue picture, temporary, fallible, changeable, and that no righteous judgment can be based upon this testimony. He listened only to what the Father was telling him of man, and he based his judgment upon Truth.

Has one's sight grown dim? Is one's hearing no longer acute? How shall these erroneous suggestions or conditions be dealt with? If one realizes that he need not comply with error's demand that he see, hear, and feel through matter, he will be in a better position to handle subsequent demands or suggestions of error based upon this same false premise.

A change of base from material sense to spiritual sense is the great need. We must acknowledge that we see and hear spiritually through the perceptive faculties of Mind. Let us love this way of perceiving and actively apply to every detail of our daily experience the fresh, clear views so attained.

If our study of the Bible and of the writings of Mrs. Eddy does not kindle a desire to see spiritually, we are dwelling in the deadness of a repetition of the letter. We are sitting miserably in the valley with a mountain before us; we may look upward, but we do not move in an upward direction to obtain the new views. Small wonder that the vision dims with constant postponement of action or that the hearing grows dull from failing to respond to the call of God.

The textbook states (p. 248), "Love never loses sight of loveliness." Since God is also Truth and Life, one could say that Truth never loses sight of truthfulness, of exactness, of clarity; that Life never loses sight of existence, of activity, of vitality. Inasmuch as God never loses sight of these essential qualities, then His reflection, man, cannot lose sight of them. They are ever man's to reflect and enjoy.

The writer found this line of reasoning both inspiring and helpful at a time when her sight became blurred and indistinct. She quietly claimed that in reality she could not lose sight of the qualities of God, for they are spiritual. In the course of this contemplative study, hidden erroneous traits were revealed to her, and an enthusiastic correcting of thought with spiritual truths brought complete healing within a few months.

Christian Science does not teach the closing of one's eyes to error of any sort or the turning of deaf ears to any legitimate human need. There is always a solution in Mind, and spiritual discernment and understanding are God's gracious means for delivering us from the bondage of the material senses and their false testimony. As Isaiah said (32:3), "The eyes of them that see shall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear shall hearken."

RISING ABOVE MESMERIC INFLUENCES

LOLITA MAE HUGHES

MESMERISM or hypnotism is not induced always by one who professes to be a hypnotist. Subjecting oneself to the undue mental influence of others results in self-mesmerism and robs one of his God-given right to think for himself.

Christian Scientists must be alert in order to detect the things that are influencing thought. They must exercise the right and the ability to reason and to choose their thoughts. Mrs. Eddy states in Science and Health (p. 106): "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love." Accordingly the alert Christian Scientist employs only Godlike thoughts and dismisses any thoughts of inharmony which, although they may claim to be his own, are but the suggestions of the carnal mind.

It is well to consider the following questions: What am I susceptible to? What impresses me? What stimulates my imagination? What illusions of thought seem real to me? What do I think about in my spare time?

The carnal mind attempts in various ways to dull thinking and to deceive one into thinking that there is another mind, another power besides God, capable of governing him.

Once, while employed in personnel work, I spent a major part of my day interviewing people who were unemployed. A constant procession of human problems paraded before my desk each day. People came seeking employment who were deemed unemployable because of alcoholism, dishonesty, misconduct, and so on. Some of these people had wives, children, and other dependents to support and had been unemployed for months. Their faces depicted the varying states of thought which they entertained.

Involuntarily I began to feel deeply sorry for these people and to worry about how they were going to support their families and meet their bills. I began mentally to carry home their plights and to think about them during the night. I would awaken completely exhausted and reluctant to return to the sight of these people again. The feeling of fatigue and hopelessness began to depress me until I could hardly drag myself around.

Realizing that there was an answer to this problem in Christian Science, I started to analyze my thought. I saw that I had allowed myself to be mesmerized by the suggestions that man is a mortal, subject to lack, illness, dishonesty, unemployment, moral laxity, and that an individual can be robbed by evil of satisfaction, rightful employment, happiness. I was being impressed by error and was believing in a power apart from God, good. I had been devoting my spare time to the contemplation of disaster.

Reversing these aggressive suggestions, I realized that God is not partial. He does not give out problems to some of His children and happiness to others. He does not give out weaknesses and temptations to some and stability and strength to others. I saw that since I understood that man is the reflection of the one Mind, God, I had God-given ability to govern my own thinking. I had the ability to choose my path. I had the choice of being impressed by error and magnifying it or of being immediate in the denial of everything opposite to God, good.

Christ Jesus taught us to pray (Matt. 6:13), "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil," and Paul counseled us (Rom. 12:21), "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

I realized that instead of beholding Mr. Alcoholic, Miss Lack, Mr. Dishonesty, I must turn to Science and there behold the perfect man, upright, pure, and free. I must be consistent in separating in my thought God's image and likeness from mortal pictures of woe. I must refuse to identify man with error, but must constantly identify him with his Maker and with the government of his Maker. I must recognize the innate ability of each individual to think and act rightly, for by thinking rightly and turning from error, each one can change his physical condition and environment.

I realized too that Mind is continuously interpreting itself to its ideas. Therefore, it was not my responsibility to try to change the thinking of anyone. My responsibility was simply to look beyond the mist of material sense illusion and behold man as God's beloved son.

By separating the error from the individuals and refusing to be influenced by it, I was able to keep the same job but to be unimpressed by the mesmerizing errors of the carnal mind. I learned the need of never agreeing with error, but of always keeping my thought above the mesmerizing mist of material sense.

Daniel in the lions' den proved that man is eternally separate from any mesmeric, downward tendency, although error seemed to be suggesting destruction to him. He was not influenced, or mesmerized, by fear. Error, uncovered as nothing, was unable to harm him.

Paul saw the way to overcome the ignorance of the carnal mind and the necessity of doing so. He wrote to the Ephesians: "I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you . . . that ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness. Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another" (4:1, 22–25).

The mesmerism which would persuade us that man has no control over his own destiny is seen to be completely erroneous. Man, God's perfectly protected and beloved child, remains just as God intends him to be, in spite of the bald lie which mortal belief tries to tell.

In our efforts to live above mesmeric influences, we can find encouragement in this statement in Science and Health (p. 201): "Passions, selfishness, false appetites, hatred, fear, all sensuality, yield to spirituality, and the superabundance of being is on the side of God, good."

Your Task

MARION ALICE BOWERS

THERE is a task for you,
A joyous work you only can fulfill,
A task demanding zeal and enterprise
And close adherence to the Father's will.

There is a life for you,
Filling the niche to you alone assigned
By Love divine that knows nor youth nor age,
But pure reflection of the perfect Mind.

Pursuing Mind's clear plan, precise, complete,
Means constant progress for your questing feet.

"NOW IS THE ACCEPTED TIME"

EARL ALBERT RUSSELL

WRITING in the Christian Science Sentinel of May 30, 1903, Mrs. Eddy said (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 12): "This was an emphatic rule of St. Paul: 'Behold, now is the accepted time.' A lost opportunity is the greatest of losses. Whittier mourned it as what 'might have been.' We own no past, no future, we possess only now." In the next paragraph, speaking of children and their good deeds, she commented: "The good they desire to do, they insist upon doing now. They speculate neither on the past, present, nor future, but, taking no thought for the morrow, act in God's time."

The omnipresence of God, good, is proof that good in its infinite variety of expression is everywhere and therefore is present for everyone at all times and is thus available now. "Do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord" (Jer. 23:24). Good in infinite diversification is everywhere divinely natural and normal to man now.

Whatever is true has always been true, will ever be true, and it is true now for everyone. Likewise, whatever is untrue has never been true, will ever be untrue, and is unreal and untrue now. Error can never be true, because it is a mistake regardless of how long or how awful it may have seemed to be. Healing in Christian Science consists in the refusal to accept the false presentments of evil or in the elimination of evils that have been permitted to enter thought and being. Thus, to heal instantaneously, one repudiates each aggressive mental suggestion the instant it presents itself, or, having accepted it as a belief, discards it the moment its illusive nature is seen. Healing takes place the very instant that one sees the wholly illusive nature of any material falsity and replaces it with divine ideas of perfection.

The Master, Christ Jesus, speaking to the Jews, told them that if they continued in his word—persisted in applying what he taught—they would indeed be his disciples. Then he said (John 8:32), "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." He may have meant that they would be free from believing aggressive mental suggestions of evil.

A thought becomes a belief when one believes it to be true. The alert student of Christian Science knows that each attack of error, or animal magnetism, is an attempt to convince one erroneously that a specific lie is true and that it is true now. If one is deceived into believing the lie, it becomes a reality to him and will be believed until through understanding the spiritual reality of good and the unreality of material lies he disbelieves what had seemed real to him before. The alert Christian Scientist, entrenched in the knowledge that God, good, is the only power, insists that at this present moment good alone has power.

Healing in Christian Science is divinely natural and inevitable to those who apply the teachings of this Science correctly. This healing is based upon Scriptural authority, such as the Biblical statement in Genesis that "God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good" (1:31); and again, in the first chapter of John (verse 3), "All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." It is logical to reason from such a premise that man, the creation of perfect God, is now and always will be perfect in every respect. Also, it is logical to deduce that discords, not being good, could not have been made by God, and since nothing is ever made except by God, discords were never made and, being wholly illusory, are supposititious lies.

Man, the image and likeness of God, is never material; hence the mortal misconception is never the man in whom God, Spirit, is well pleased. A mortal is finite and material, a mistaken claim of entity. But the divine control and government of divine Mind extend even to the physical realm, so called, and thus all mankind may feel the Christ-power, which proves God's harmony true on earth, even as it is in heaven. And it can be felt now.

A Christian Scientist who had many proofs of the power of God in human affairs experienced a gratifying and enriching demonstration when on a lengthy motor journey. One day he manifested a condition that probably would have been diagnosed medically as serious. Specifically, the aggressive mental suggestion was that of a nervous breakdown. This insidious argument seemed to become more severe and the trouble to grow worse in spite of his prayerful mental work. The condition continued unabated that day and all during the night.

As he and his companions began their next day's journey, he found it difficult to keep from pitying himself and also from believing in a presence and power other than God. As they drove along, he asked himself what he would do if another were to tell him that he too was feeling as he did. He felt sure that he would tell such a one that the entire experience was unreal, a dream, not a fact. He would probably advise him to thank God for the fact that it was all an illusion and hence powerless, a human vagary.

It seemed logical to him that he should take his own advice. So he thanked God fervently for blessings which he had enjoyed and for the spiritual understanding he had gained through the study and application of the law of God, Christian Science. Then he thanked God for his full and complete freedom as a child of God at that very moment, for God had made him that way, and God maintained him. This was also in accord with what Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 151), "The divine Mind that made man maintains His own image and likeness." As he rejoiced over this great spiritual fact, the discordant condition completely disappeared, although he was so uplifted with the spiritual truths that he did not realize for several days that he had been healed. There has been no recurrence of the difficulty.

Now, wherever one may be, regardless of how aggressive the fear or painful the condition, God is there, guiding, directing, protecting, and blessing him. Wherever man is, God is, and wherever God is, harmony is supreme; freedom is the law. Now man has dominion over every circumstance, because he reflects God's infinite supremacy always. One need only to realize this fact and live accordingly.

It is true now that God has given man every right idea. When one understands this fact, he can lack no good thing, nothing that is needful to enable him to demonstrate man's reflection and expression of divine completeness. It is true now that man, God's idea, reflects the ever-presence of perfect goodness in its infinite variety—perfect health, perfect vision, perfect hearing, perfect feeling, and so forth—because he expresses and verifies the all-seeing and all-knowing of Mind. One who lives according to these truths tastes, that is, experiences, the heavenly joy and fruitage of work well done, the satisfaction of being obedient to divine direction.

Every individual in his true being is now the son, the child, of God. The Bible teaches us that we do not fully know in our present state of development what we shall be when all materiality has been discarded and spiritual perfection demonstrated. But we do grasp enough of God's goodness here on earth to know that when He shall appear to us in all the glory of Spirit "we shall be like him" (I John 3:2), because we are now in reality the wonderful expression of His divine majesty. Until that advanced state of spiritual consciousness has been fully attained, we must strive to demonstrate the truth of what our Leader says (Miscellany, p. 12), "Faith in divine Love supplies the ever-present help and now, and gives the power to 'act in the living present.'"

LET US WATCH OUR DECISIONS

EUGENIA B. DAWSON

DECISIONS are important. We must watch them carefully. It is well to question our thoughts and our decisions often, to learn whether they are based on the reality of divine Principle, God, good, or on the supposititious opposite, the temporal and unreal, that which seems to be but never is.

Alertness in this watching, even in the minutest detail of our lives, brings its reward in a more harmonious and useful experience. Without qualification and with her usual clarity and preciseness our beloved Leader says in Science and Health (p. 392), "Your decisions will master you, whichever direction they take."

How vitally important, then, that our decisions take the direction that will lead us into the spiritual understanding of God! The only correct decisions are based squarely upon the spiritual facts that God alone is Mind, that man is His image and likeness, eternally governed by Him, and that God is the only intelligence of man and the universe.

A decision which concedes the reality of evil or matter, of an intelligence and power apart from God, Spirit, Mind, Love, is but a conclusion of the carnal or mortal mind. The individual who thus decides is not correctly identifying himself as the image and likeness, the idea, of Mind, God, but is at that moment falsely looking upon himself as a mortal, with a mind apart from God that can think and decide of itself. This is not the truth of being as revealed in Christian Science.

It is one's own decision that masters one. It is not another's decision. It cannot be. In the first chapter of Genesis the Scriptures have been telling men for centuries that man has God-given dominion. A challenging and reassuring statement of our Leader's on page 3 of her work "Pulpit and Press" leaves no doubt as to one's ability and responsibility to govern one's thinking. She writes: "Know, then, that you possess sovereign power to think and act rightly, and that nothing can dispossess you of this heritage and trespass on Love. If you maintain this position, who or what can cause you to sin or suffer?"

The individual who humbly accepts the great spiritual fact proclaimed by Christ Jesus—"I can of mine own self do nothing" (John 5:30)—sees that man's knowing is the reflection of the one all-knowing Mind. Adhering to this truth, he knows that his decisions can and will bless not only himself but mankind.

But if one does not have the humility to understand that he can of his own self do nothing but that God is his only source of ability and intelligence, he may be tricked into believing that his decisions can be controlled by his own intellect or by the minds of those around him. This claim of error should be rejected and, through the understanding of the inseparability of God, divine Mind, and man, seen as nothing.

Sometimes it may seem difficult not to blame others for our troubles, our poor health, our lack of progress or success, our seeming inability to understand and demonstrate Christian Science. This argument is only a challenge to us to watch our thoughts and decisions. We have God-given authority to reject the aggressive suggestions of error and to spiritualize our concept of those who may seem to us to be the cause of our trouble. It is our acceptance or rejection of the delusive material sense testimony that decides the case.

As we claim our true identity as the reflection of Mind, we are enabled to realize that in the one infinite Mind nothing erroneous is going on at any time. We need to know that in reality there is only one God, perfect Spirit, and man in His image and likeness, the loving and lovable expression of infinite spiritual consciousness, Soul.

The Master declared (John 8:31, 32), "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." In the absolute sense, man in the image and likeness of God can know only the truth, for man has by reflection spiritual discernment only. When we decide to accept this fact and act accordingly, we have ability to perceive, recognize, accept, receive, and utilize the spiritual ideas that Mind is constantly imparting to man and to the universe.

Jesus said, "If ye continue in my word. . . ." We must not lose sight of this prerequisite if we are to know the truth and to realize its evidence in freedom. It is the continuing—persistence in thinking in accord with divine Principle—that gives power and effectiveness to our positive, active decisions. To be Jesus' followers, we must obey his teachings. The more Christlikeness we demonstrate in daily living, the more immediate and effective our work, our true knowing.

Of prime importance is immediacy in making the decision for good, for a recognition of God's unceasing government of man and the universe. We must be instant in our rejection of evil's suggestions, its presentments. These are never more than insidious temptations of the one evil, the liar. Evil is nowhere. It is nothing. The very fact that we are faced with proving error's nothingness and powerlessness is assurance that we can do it, for we do have "sovereign power to think and act rightly."

This fact was proved several years ago in the writer's experience. One evening she became aware of a large lump on her body. She was so surprised that she exclaimed aloud, thus calling the situation to the attention of a member of her family. The mortal mind suggestions of name, symptoms, and eventuality were frightening and aggressive. But the right decision was made immediately, and the evil suggestions were reversed audibly and with firm conviction on the basis of spiritual law as learned and proved many times before in Christian Science.

The temptation to look at the erroneous manifestation was quickly rejected each time it presented itself to thought, and the lying arguments of pain and fear were persistently and calmly reversed and replaced with the spiritual fact of man's inviolable perfection as the image and likeness of God, Spirit.

The writer held to the truth that she was a spiritually mental being, dwelling in perfect, spiritual consciousness. She affirmed that she had never been born into matter, did not live in it, was not governed or conditioned or limited by matter or by a physical body. She declared that she had always existed as a spiritual idea in divine Mind and that perfection and harmony are maintained intact by that Mind. Other truths also came to her to strengthen and clarify her thoughts.

For a time the condition seemed to worsen and the pain to increase, but the prompt decision to reject every suggestion of evil brought its reward. Soon harmony was restored. There was a complete healing, which has been permanent.

What gratitude wells up in the thought of Christian Scientists for the example of intrepidness and tireless work of our Leader in giving to the world this glorious way of Life—Christian Science! What a joyous challenge to each one of her followers to make correct decisions and thus to demonstrate their "sovereign power to think and act rightly" at all times and under all circumstances!

NO CHANCE OR CHANGE

JANE THATCHER DAVIS

IN this fast-moving world, chance and change claim to be uncontrollable factors in the lives of men. But Christian Science teaches that man, the reflection of God, is governed by Him, and the Bible records His message in Malachi (3:6), "I am the Lord, I change not."

In "Unity of Good," Mrs. Eddy quotes this verse from a hymn:

> "Chance and change are busy ever,
> Man decays and ages move;
> But His mercy waneth never,—
> God is wisdom, God is love."

Then she says (p. 26), "Now if it be true that God's power never waneth, how can it be also true that chance and change are universal factors,—that man decays?" A little further on she continues, "If God be changeless goodness, as sings another line of this hymn, what place has chance in the divine economy?"

Indeed, material chance and change are not part of the divine consciousness; therefore they have no place in the consciousness of God's idea, man, who eternally lives in the stability and harmony of the ordered universe of Mind. In our individual consciousness the false theory that all things are subject to change must be replaced with a certain understanding of God as changeless goodness. Then we shall understand that man's well-being, joy, and abundance are enduring and continuous, not here today and gone tomorrow. Changeless goodness will be found an eternal unfoldment of Love, whose power never wanes.

In recent years the word "change" has often been used as a synonym for progress. As Christian Scientists we are grateful for each change that is a sign of advancing culture and improved living conditions, because such development on a human level hints at real progress. However, to be enduring, progress cannot be based on material change, but must be the result of the spiritual understanding of God. In the Bible and in our Leader's writings, we are counseled to change our basis of thinking from matter to Spirit, from the insubstantial to the substantial. Such a change is the only one required by the Science of being, but it touches every phase of our experience.

If we consider for a moment the way in which mortal belief continually presents pleasant and unpleasant pictures to us for acceptance, we realize that they all bear the mark of the Adam-dream, namely that man is a mortal and ever at the mercy of matter. If we are to refute this false testimony of the material senses and maintain our thinking on a firm foundation, constant striving for spiritual understanding is essential. The exchange of the false for the true is a joyous activity, and the resulting spiritual progress fulfills our expectations. One is enabled thereby to throw off the fetters of the limiting material senses and is brought into closer and closer agreement with God's changeless law. Human changes then take their place, individually and collectively, on an ever-brighter and ascending scale as the natural result of the law of God. Therefore one does not decline; instead he progresses in his understanding of Life as God.

In Science and Health under the marginal heading "Higher hope," Mrs. Eddy speaks of the changing of the base of one's thinking and of its reward. She writes (p. 531): "The human mind will sometime rise above all material and physical sense, exchanging it for spiritual perception, and exchanging human concepts for the divine consciousness. Then man will recognize his God-given dominion and being."

It was spiritual perception that enabled the Master, Christ Jesus, to heal instantaneously. He recognized man's God-given dominion and being. He understood the changeless law of God and handled with the vital truth of being the world's time-worn, subtle, and apathetic reminders that all things change and pass away. The Christly perception that healed the men of old has not changed and as surely heals the men of today.

God, the all-encompassing divine source of changeless goodness, can no more conceive of a law of chance than He can be aware of a law of material change. Spiritual good does not vacillate. One dictionary definition of "chance" reads this way: "something that befalls as the result of unknown or unconsidered forces." Changeless goodness is not subject to such force.

There is in the Book of James a beautiful promise that is a tower of strength when one is faced with the supposition that any chance circumstance can alter good. It reads (1:17), "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." Rich gifts, such as grace, understanding, and abounding love, are ours forever.

In the parable of the good Samaritan we read that a man journeying from Jerusalem to Jericho fell among thieves who robbed and wounded him and left him half dead. We are told that "by chance there came down a certain priest that way" (Luke 10:31). But he went past on the other side. Although one would have expected compassion and help from a man of his profession, his appearing was of no benefit to the poor wounded man.

Next a Levite came along, but turned away when he saw the injured man, and he too went past on the other side. Finally, the Samaritan, journeying along, "came where he was." When the traveler saw the man in need, he bound up his wounds and carried him on his own beast to an inn. The Samaritan provided for the care of the man not for that day only but for such time as he would need to get well. The spiritual qualities of compassion and brotherhood that the Samaritan expressed always afford certain help, for they are derived from God.

Our source of steady, continued progress is not a chance appearance of good. God provides the thoughts that we need, when we need them, with certain help and healing. They are always where we are, and they free us from the bonds of mortal belief. We learn through Christian Science that spiritual perception, not material sense, brings to light man, made in God's likeness, forever governed by God's law of changeless good. We control our thoughts, and hence our experience, through our obedience to this law. Then we begin to understand the changeless goodness of God.

A Chosen Generation

PIERREPONT E. TWITCHELL

THE early Christians knew the Comforter;
Upon them fell the Pentecostal light.
They trusted God. They felt within them stir
A mighty power.

The times again are right:
The glorious Comforter is with us too.
Across the years we clasp those Christians' hands,
And understand their joys as brothers do.
We stand united by the selfsame bands.
Unchanging Love knows neither place nor time.
The same light blazes in our heart of hearts
To the extent we know and realize
And prove this glorious truth. It is sublime.

"THE ETERNAL INFORMING SOUL"

THE Christmas season, rightly interpreted, points human thought to the truths of being which the Saviour received from God and proved in ineffable compassion for mankind. Christ Jesus, whose birth the Christian world celebrates, showed humanity how to break the bonds of mortality and escape from the grasp of material sense in which men's woes and limitations appear.

The Master taught us to look to God, to Soul, for information. He described himself to his opponents as "a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God," and he said, "He that is of God heareth God's words" (John 8:40, 47). Those who listen for the same truth through means revealed by Christian Science celebrate Christmas in constant freshness of inspiration. They rejoice in the truth that God is infinite and that man is His likeness, subject only to laws of harmony and health, love and immortality. These truths were among those revealed to our Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, when she received the vast information from Soul which she designated Christian Science. Her discovery has made a perpetual Christmas possible to those who are receptive to that information.

Mrs. Eddy says of Christmas in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (pp. 259, 260), "It represents the eternal informing Soul recognized only in harmony, in the beauty and bounty of Life everlasting,—in the truth that is Life, the Life that heals and saves mankind."

So imbued with the spirit of Truth was our Leader that she devoted her life to founding her Church in order to disseminate the information she gathered from Soul. On one occasion she described her Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in these words (ibid., p. 247): "The church is the mouthpiece of Christian Science,—its law and gospel are according to Christ Jesus." Through this "mouthpiece" the Word of God, preserved carefully in its scientific purity, is disseminated to mankind throughout the world as quickly as they are ready to receive it. The Manual of The Mother Church, which Mrs. Eddy wrote, provides means for carrying out this great project.

This disseminating activity dominates the entire organization of The Mother Church and its branches. The members who take part in this activity are blessed in the measure of the spirit of compassion and generosity in which they devote their energies to their tasks. If they should become perfunctory in doing their work, they would lose the healing power of the Christmas spirit that surrounds the truly missionary effort. At no time need institutional work take on the blight of routine procedure, and it will not if the spirit in which our Leader organized the work of her Church is maintained.

How far would the Science of Christ have penetrated the mass of human thought if this efficient institution, dedicated to rousing the whole race from the mesmeric dream of life in matter, had not been founded? A very few adherents of Science might be imagined as recommending to friends the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," in which Mrs. Eddy recorded the information she received from Soul. As it is, through organized effort, millions of pieces of Christian Science literature go out into the world each year. Copies of the textbook, as well as of Mrs. Eddy's other writings, which largely record the founding of Christian Science, are sold in great numbers to newcomers to this Science and to experienced workers in the movement.

The Sunday services, the Sunday School, lectures, and activities of the Committee on Publication also bring to the public the information which Soul supplies. Many people are healed through this information, and this fact attests the reliability of the teachings disseminated. Without the organization there would be no "mouthpiece of Christian Science," and Soul would remain practically unheard.

Those church members who are engaged in disseminating Truth through the various agencies provided by The Mother Church will find inspiration in remembering that they are serving "the eternal informing Soul" and helping to make the message of Science a tremendous force for good in the world.

In all our church activities, if we think with compassion of those who hunger for something stable in their lives, for health, peace of mind, justice, purity, our duties will be accomplished with power and with success. No amount of human efficiency can make up for lack of the spirit of Truth that makes one long to take the healing touch of Christ to sufferers and to those who are struggling to disentangle themselves from sin.

In absolute being, that is, in Science, Soul is ceaselessly sending forth the ideas and qualities that constitute man in God's likeness. This perpetual nourishing bespeaks the fatherhood and motherhood of Soul, which ever cares for its children, ever nourishes them with the bread of Life, ever holds them in the consciousness of things divine.

There is no materialism in Soul, no illusion of divisiveness, no greed, ugliness, hatred, or death, no matter, from which all errors derive. Soul stirs the listening thought to realize that the physical sense of life is transitory and unreal, a dream of mortality from which mankind must be awakened. Soul imparts knowledge of God's kingdom, in which divine law is unresisted and man loves God supremely and his neighbor as himself.

In Soul, man's faculties are indestructible, his capacities unlimited, his abilities forever unfolding new insights into the purposes of inexhaustible good. These are some of the truths of which Soul informs the world, some of the facts which Christian Science demonstrates for those who receive its message with joy.

On Christmas, 1909, our Leader's last Christmas with us on earth, she sent this message to her household (ibid., p. 263): "A word to the wise is sufficient. Mother wishes you all a happy Christmas, a feast of Soul and a famine of sense."

Today, we can take this message to ourselves, listen to "the eternal informing Soul," and rejoice that we can help take its truths to a restless, wondering world.

REMOVING THE CAUSE OF DISEASE

EVERY discordant effect in the body is produced by some mental error entertained, not destroyed. If such an erroneous belief is not taken into account, discerned, and cast out, the body is apt to take on the consequence of evil or fearful thinking.

There is no scientific reason why an individual should become involved with such consequences or suffer their continuance. In Christian Science one finds the spiritual remedy for discord of every nature. The use of this remedy requires a spiritual conviction of God's all-presence and power and of man's perfect relationship to Him as His reflection. As one understands God's allness and perfection and has a willingness to abandon known or unknown errors that pervade thought, these errors will come to the surface, and their destruction is then at hand.

There is no tiresome struggle involved in the removal of the mental cause of disease. A sincere effort of course must be made, a cross must be taken up, spiritual sense must be developed, but it is not a heavily toilsome task. Rather is it a joyous activity, an activity naturally culminating in the restoration of normal conditions of the body.

When Christ Jesus healed the boy afflicted with epilepsy, he commanded (Mark 9: 25), "Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him." This command of itself, without a spiritual sense of real being, would have been of no value in healing the boy. But the Master, who knew his own true selfhood as inseparable from God, good, also was able to see the true identity of the ailing one not as a fleshly mortal, but as the perfect, immortal child of God, hence as flawless and eternal. The truth that Jesus knew corrected the false concept of man, and healing was the result.

Mrs. Eddy points out in Science and Health (pp, 185, 186), "A patient under the influence of mortal mind is healed only by removing the influence on him of this mind, by emptying his thought of the false stimulus and reaction of will-power and filling it with the divine energies of Truth."

To free one's thoughts from the errors which cause trouble, one must develop a pure sense of his real selfhood as God's reflection and then conduct his life consistently with that divine standard. There must be an abandonment of evil thinking because it is contrary to God's law of purity and love. Selfishness must yield to unselfishness, impatience to patience, hatred to love, for these are errors which, in belief, cause discord. No material means can eliminate such errors as these.

To free his thoughts and hence his body from discord, one must remove the influence of fearful and superstitious beliefs, which are trouble-producing. How does one do this? By gaining a clear conviction that God is all good and universally present, that His perfection imbues all being, that He made man and cares tenderly for him. One must understand his true selfhood to be immortal and perfect, not made up of material elements or mortal beliefs. He must acknowledge his true selfhood as entirely apart from evil, entirely separate from superstitious and fearful beliefs. Mrs. Eddy says (ibid., pp. 411, 412), "If you succeed in wholly removing the fear, your patient is healed."

The healing process in Christian Science involves a removal of ignorance. Through false education and the taking in of false theological beliefs to the effect that man is a mortal sinner and is under God's edict of punishment or destruction, individuals have made themselves ready victims of the consequences of such senseless thoughts. To heal and to progress in spirituality, one must remove ignorance. He must understand that God made man spiritual and not of the dust of the ground and that that which God made never fell into sin or materiality.

Throughout eternity we are all actually spiritual, not physical. We are not mortals trying to become immortals. That which needs to be done to unveil our true, spiritual selfhood is to remove the ignorant sense which persists in saying that evil, sin, disease, fear, death, matter, and mortal mind are real. No mortal utterances, however persistent, can make that true which is untrue. Nothing can turn light into darkness, white into black, or love into hate. Science insists that we hold to that which is genuine and true despite the claims of error to the contrary. We do not heal by asserting that man is physical or that disease is real, continuing, or progressive, but by holding firmly to the premise that health alone is real, for it is a spiritual quality of God.

Mrs. Eddy says (ibid., p. 377): "Remove the leading error or governing fear of this lower so-called mind, and you remove the cause of all disease as well as the morbid or excited action of any organ. You also remove in this way what are termed organic diseases as readily as functional difficulties."

Christian Science is exact. It requires those who would grow in ability to demonstrate it to study earnestly its rules. As this is done the student becomes more and more expert in proving its precepts and in discerning and removing the offending errors that seem to stand in the way of harmony and health.

THE WISEMEN OF THE EAST

THE story of the Christmas season is made more colorful by the appearing of the Wisemen of the East on their camels, seeking to do homage to the Bethlehem babe (see Matt., second chapter). The history of these men is obscure, but there is something about them that is of more than casual interest to Christian Scientists.

The Magi were possessed of the knowledge and skills of their day. In addition to this, these particular men were aware of the spiritual significance of the prophecies concerning the Messiah. A degree of spiritual-mindedness enabled them to look with considerable favor on the role Christ Jesus was destined to play in the affairs of men. No doubt they were able at least to glimpse the coming of a new day in which revealed Truth would supersede knowledge based upon superstition as well as upon mere sense perception.

With unerring direction these men were led to follow a star that pointed the way to the crib of the infant Jesus, whose life and work subsequently revealed to men the spiritual order, the divine Science of being. A well-known Bible commentary speaks of the journey of these Wisemen as illustrating the true relations between science and religion. It indicates that in the persons of the Magi, science paid homage to religion, stating: "The Magi were the men of science of the period, and their science brought them to Christ. And so it is now."

One difficulty in concluding that science and religion will ever be compatible is that at present these two modes of thought approach human life mainly from opposite standpoints, the material and the spiritual. There is, however, one point of agreement that will eventually bring them together: a devotion to truth on the part of both scientist and religionist.

Truth is universal. It cannot be limited to or confined in any area of human thought. Truth controls, but can never be controlled. Whoever is devoted to truth must of necessity be opposed to error, wherever it may appear—wherever it would obstruct men in their search for freedom. Men will push forward, abandoning one erroneous theory after another, until they have found the source of all that is true: Truth itself. In this onward movement, science will separate religion from mysticism, and religion will redeem science from materialism. When men have found Truth, they will have found God, for God is Truth.

Jesus promised that the Comforter or

"Spirit of truth" would come and guide us into all truth (see John 16:13), and the Bible speaks of God as "a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deut. 32:4).

There is the truth of everything, and this truth must have existed forever. There is even the truth about error, and the truth about error is that it is untrue. There is the truth of Spirit and the truth about matter. The truth of Spirit is that it is All-in-all. The truth about matter is that it is the supposititional opposite of Spirit, hence unreal. Being infinite, Spirit has no opposite.

The unfoldment of Truth will eventually revolutionize human thought, completely changing the nature of both science and religion. As Spirit is understood to be infinite and matter to be unreal, Science and religion will attribute sovereignty to the one primal cause, God, and the enduring order of the universe will be recognized.

Spiritual sense assures us that as we seek Truth above everything else, the truth of any situation will appear, and in appearing it will do away with the offending error. Speaking of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy says in Science and Health (p. 323): "It is the 'still, small voice' of Truth uttering itself. We are either turning away from this utterance, or we are listening to it and going up higher." Natural scientists and religionists are working diligently in their respective fields. But, above all, Truth is ever unfolding itself. As our ears are opened to this still small voice, we shall abandon outgrown positions. New vistas will open up, and thought will rise in the freedom that Truth confers.

Jesus declared (John 8:31, 32), "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Elements of freedom are always qualities of Truth.

In its usual sense, science is truth sought. In its highest sense, Science is Truth revealed. When the words Science and Truth are distinguished by capitalization and are thus elevated to their deific or spiritual meaning, "the middle wall of partition" mentioned symbolically by Paul in his letter to the Ephesians (Chapter 2) will be broken down. Then Science and religion will be one.

In Science and Health (p. 126) we read: "All Science is divine. Human thought never projected the least portion of true being. Human belief has sought and interpreted in its own way the echo of Spirit, and so seems to have reversed it and repeated it materially; but the human mind never produced a real tone nor sent forth a positive sound."

Today many students of Christian Science are distinguishing themselves in various aspects of physical science. At the same time, some physical scientists are becoming sincere students of Christian Science and are contributing effectively to the progress of this movement. "We tread on forces," writes Mrs. Eddy (ibid., p. 124). "Withdraw them, and creation must collapse. Human knowledge calls them forces of matter; but divine Science declares that they belong wholly to divine Mind, are inherent in this Mind, and so restores them to their rightful home and classification."

And so the coming of the scientists of that day, the Wisemen of the East, to pay homage to the infant Jesus foretells the day when truth will be known in its Science, and religion and science will be one.

BIBLE PROMISES AND THEIR RELATION TO MEMBERSHIP IN THE MOTHER CHURCH

In a period of great stress one of the early Biblical leaders speaks of God as counseling, "Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God" (Isa. 41:10).

Earnest students of Christian Science are proving the promises of the Bible to be applicable today, affording freedom from the many forms of fear. These students soon realize that becoming a member of The Mother Church is one of the orderly steps to take in the great crusade against fear and all other limiting material beliefs.

Application blanks and information concerning membership may be obtained at Christian Science Reading Rooms, from practitioners listed in The Christian Science Journal and The Herald of Christian Science, or from clerks of branch churches and societies. Applications may also be obtained from Gordon V. Comer, Clerk, 107 Falmouth Street, Boston 15, Massachusetts.

Testimonies should be signed by the testifier and verified by three members of The Mother Church who can vouch for the integrity of the testifier or have witnessed the healings. If the testifier is unacquainted with three members, his affidavit may be sufficient, but in this case he should, if possible, obtain verification from one or two members. The testifier should submit the verifications with the testimony. Complete addresses of the testifier and his vouchers should be furnished.

Testimonies should be addressed to Journal, Sentinel, and Herald Editorial Department, One Norway Street, Boston 15, Massachusetts.

Testimonies of Christian Science Healing

[Original in French]

Christian Science was presented to me about twelve years ago. It was in September, and a relative told me about the physical, mental, and moral benefits obtained through the study of this Science. At that time I was very much worried about my son's studies because he was not making any progress in his schoolwork. On the advice of his teachers, I had him consult the best specialists and psychiatrists, but without results. Then the thought came to me that if I applied myself to the study of Christian Science, I would perhaps be able to help my boy. I did not know then that I would reap the fruits of this study before he did.

I procured a Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by our Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, and began reading. This reading was a slow process, because it was necessary for me to understand the truths which were being presented and which were so totally different from the teachings I had formerly received.

At the beginning of December, I began to have severe attacks of asthma. I had suffered from this illness during the war. Soon after these attacks began, I read in the textbook (p. 422): "If the reader of this book observes a great stir throughout his whole system, and certain moral and physical symptoms seem aggravated, these indications are favorable. Continue to read, and the book will become the physician, allaying the tremor which Truth often brings to error when destroying it."

This passage gave me courage, and I continued my reading whenever possible for me to do so. However, the attacks became more and more severe, reaching a point where my employer, noticing that it was very difficult for me to make the effort to walk to work, placed a car at my disposal to get me to and from work.

At Christmas time, taking advantage of my free days, I went to the Reading Room and asked for the address of a Christian Science practitioner. I was advised to choose one from those listed in The Herald of Christian Science (French Edition). I made an appointment for the following Saturday. When I arrived at the practitioner's home, I said to her, "I do not know whether or not you have anything to do with it, but I am completely healed."

When I had made the appointment, I had not told her what the difficulty was. From then on, the practitioner, with the greatest possible patience and kindness, helped me to gain a better understanding of the many truths contained in the textbook as well as in the other writings of our Leader.

This healing has been permanent except for one relapse, and this was a valuable lesson to me. While traveling I had to stay in a small hotel which was badly heated. When I went into my room I felt as if I were entering a cellar, and the very sheets seemed damp. I thought to myself, "I certainly am fortunate to be a Christian Scientist now; otherwise I would have a terrible attack of asthma."

After such an invitation, an attack was not long in coming. With the help of my books, which I am never without, I was able to overcome the attack and to learn to govern my thinking better.

My son has made good progress, and we have had many proofs of the omnipresence and omnipotence of our Father-Mother God. Having reached the age of twenty, he no longer attends the Christian Science Sunday School, but he joyfully endeavors to keep on improving himself spiritually and intellectually.

The statements made in these testimonies with regard to healings have been carefully verified. The original testimonies and their respective verifications are on file for reference with The Christian Science Publishing Society.—The Editors.

I am infinitely grateful to our Father-Mother God, for Christ Jesus, our Way-shower, for our beloved Leader, and for all our consecrated practitioners. I am grateful for our periodicals, which are a source of inspiration to me. I am happy to be a member of The Mother Church and of a branch church, and to have had class instruction.—(Mrs.) Georgette Perillo, Paris, France.

When Christian Science came to me I was suffering from recurrence of a tubercular condition, for which I had spent almost three years in a sanatorium several years earlier. At the time of this recurrence I was a very unhappy person, and I felt my mental disturbances had caused the return of the trouble.

I was confined to my bed for several months, and during this time I read the Bible, searching for comfort. A neighbor who was a Christian Scientist came to visit me, and when she saw my Bible on the bed beside me, she knew I was looking for the truth; so she talked to me of the teachings of Christian Science. I was immediately receptive, thinking it was very logical to expect the healing to come through Mind; because even before I had heard anything of Christian Science, I believed the cause to be mental rather than physical.

I borrowed my neighbor's copy of the Christian Science textbook until she could purchase one for me the following week. I read day and night, and although I now realize I did not understand all I read, I accepted it as true.

I wrote to a Christian Science practitioner for help because I had many fears to overcome, one being that this condition was hereditary. As I studied, the fears subsided, and within a month I was out of bed. Within four months I was doing all my own work in a large house and caring for our small daughter. For over fourteen years I have been completely free, and I not only care for our home, but also hold a full-time position in an office.

I am also grateful for other healings which our daughter and I have had and for a better understanding of God and man, made in His likeness. When our daughter was about ten years old, she broke her arm; but she was healed without medicine or without having the bone set. Once again we had to overcome fear, the fear of what other members of the family were thinking and what their reaction would be to our sole reliance upon God for healing. Within a month the girl was playing her clarinet in the band, completely healed.

At another time this daughter complained of an earache. Help was given by a practitioner, and the pain left immediately; but she could not hear out of the ear. For three days she was in a feverish sleep. Early one morning our daughter awakened me to say that the ear had drained without her even knowing it and without pain or discomfort. This took place about eleven years ago, and there has been no recurrence.

Most of these healings were experienced before I had the privilege of membership in a Church of Christ, Scientist. I have had many healings since then, one of which occurred about seven years after the healing of tuberculosis. One day I inadvertently breathed the fumes created by a combination of household chemicals. My throat and lungs burned. When I called a practitioner for prayerful help, my voice was almost inaudible. My first thought had been fear of what it could do to my lungs, but within the hour after asking for assistance I was completely free.

I am grateful for membership in The Mother Church and for the blessed privilege of class instruction. I am grateful that I had the opportunity of taking a trip to Boston for the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church.—(Mrs.) Florence S. Bertsch, Sterling, Illinois.

I am the daughter referred to in the previous testimony and wish to verify these healings and to express my gratitude for all that Christian Science has done for me. I relied completely on Christian Science at the time my daughter was born and experienced a very harmonious childbirth. I am now looking forward to the time when my daughter will be old enough to attend the Christian Science Sunday School, which I attended for ten years. I am also grateful to be a member of The Mother Church.—(Mrs.) Janet Bertsch Gebhardt.

From early childhood I have had a deep love for God. I often used to listen for that voice within to tell me what to do, but I did not know how to really depend on it. My father was a home missionary, and my mother had taught me that God alone gives life. I decided quite young to be a foreign missionary. However, after I married I stopped going to church for twelve years.

When my son was one year old, he became very ill, and the doctor told me that he did not think he would live. A few months before this a Christian Scientist had visited in our home, and I had learned to love her. However, because relatives told me such awful tales about Science, I had not asked her about her religion, and I was still not ready for it; so I turned to a chiropractor. But the child was not healed.

Soon after that I began to have severe headaches, and a doctor told me that I would have to be operated on for gall bladder trouble. As I did not want that, I went to the chiropractor for treatments for myself, but I received little help.

After much thought I decided to try Christian Science. I read the New Testament through so that I would know whether or not this religion was in accordance with the Bible. Then I wrote to my friend for Science and Health. I started reading it the minute I received it, for I felt that if I had another headache, it would be the end. I read every moment I could spare during the day and every night when I awakened.

In about six months I was visiting a Christian Science friend in a city a good many miles away. The night I caught the bus to return home, my son had food poisoning. The friend told me to get on the bus, and she would try to reach a Christian Science practitioner for me.

On the way home I prayed, using the truths I could remember from my reading of Science and Health. When I got off the bus at home, the boy was healed. The friend later told me that she had not been able to reach a practitioner; so the healing was the result of my own prayerful work.

A few weeks later I attended my first Christian Science lecture. Because of what I heard at the lecture I began to understand the first chapter of Genesis, and then I knew that Christian Science was what I could depend on. Soon after this I had one of the severe headaches. I went to my room, and for three hours I read, although it was very difficult to do so. However, as I read I felt that the light of Truth was there.

Finally I picked up The Christian Science Monitor and started reading the religious article on The Home Forum page. It spoke of Paul's rejoicing in his afflictions. I could see nothing to rejoice over; but after reading the article, I knew that he was grateful for God's care, and I became grateful also. I was free, and I realized that gratitude is one of the important factors in healing.

That was over ten years ago, and the erroneous condition has not returned. I have never turned to material aid in any form for myself or for the children since the day I picked up Science and Health.

When my husband passed on, I faced great antagonism to Christian Science. I had to take over my husband's business during a drought. Through relying on God I was able to settle the estate in a way that made business experts marvel, and within six years I had won the respect and love of friends and relatives who had opposed me in my stand for Truth.

In my business dealings I kept these helpful messages in thought: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33), and from Science and

Health (p. 454), "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way."

I have been healed of periods of blindness; I have also been healed of grief, sprained ankles, a heart attack, toothache, and I have been protected when living alone. My children have been healed of measles, whooping cough, chicken pox, sore throat, and influenza.

My gratitude to God is boundless for Mrs. Eddy, for the privilege of class instruction, for the yearly association meeting, and also for the practitioners who have stood by me in time of need. — (Mrs.) Elizabeth Espy, Brady, Texas.

* * *

I FIRST studied Christian Science simply from an impersonal, intellectual point of view. I was interested in comparative religions, but had been brought up from childhood to have a great love and reverence for Christ Jesus and his wonderful teachings. It was not long, therefore, before Mrs. Eddy's revelation of Christian Science entirely satisfied my longing for Truth, and I understood that there could be no comparative Truth.

The impact of Science on my thought was tremendous, and to mortal sense I went through difficult times. I can see now, however, that these times only served to promote my growth in Christian Science.

When a dear one passed on and difficult family relationships, false accusations, and financial problems confronted me, I was quickly healed of all resentment through the prayerful work of a Christian Science practitioner.

I have also had many physical healings. I have been healed of a strained back, of burns, sick headaches, eye inflammation, influenza, laryngitis, and other ailments, and also of false character traits. Some of these healings were immediate; others required considerable faithful study and consecration.

During the Second World War, while serving as an ambulance driver, I was wonderfully protected. After four years' service abroad I returned to London. I was very happy to be back, but I was horrified at the damage being done at that time by the continual bombing. I tried to find an apartment, but as I went out every morning, I found, instead of a home, more and more houses demolished by the buzz bombs.

Gradually I became discouraged and sick at heart at the seeming loss of so much that was dear to me. Then one morning I found myself in an area when it was actually hit by one of these bombs. I was petrified with fear such as I had never experienced before. It was not possible for me to reach a practitioner.

The intense fear continued for about four days. Then, because of my earnest prayers and desire for good, it was uncovered to me that this picture of destruction and of terror-stricken mortals was in reality not true at all. It was simply a manifestation of hatred.

I also saw that while seeking a material home amongst the debris, I had let thoughts of hatred into my consciousness, and these had obviously prevented my finding an apartment. I began to realize that home is heaven and is found only in a harmonious state of consciousness.

With this uncovering of the cause of my fear and suffering came a great sense of gratitude, and my consciousness became flooded with the glorious understanding of what heaven really is. I was led to study the third tenet of Christian Science, which reads (Science and Health by Mrs. Eddy, p. 497): "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal. But the belief in sin is punished so long as the belief lasts."

Through this specific study, I gained a clearer understanding of God's forgiveness and of the way to apply Christian Science practically. I could see that the fear from which I was suffering could last only as long as my belief in hatred lasted.

While I was drinking in these truths, the hatred vanished, and in its place there was only love for mankind. In that moment I was released from fear. I was also healed of the illusion that God is a respecter of persons or of nationalities. A few days later I found a suitable dwelling, where I, as well as some of my friends, was able to enjoy a happy sense of home. This healing made me realize more than ever before the scientific import of loving our enemies.

I am grateful for membership in The Mother Church and in a branch church and for having had class instruction. I am grateful for Mrs. Eddy, who, through her discovery, made the blessings of Christian Science available to all.—(Mrs.) Frances Margaret Davis, San Francisco, California.

In referring to "Lessons in the Sunday School," Mrs. Eddy states (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 232), "The right way wins the right of way, even the way of Truth and Love whereby all our debts are paid, mankind blessed, and God glorified."

My mother gave me the opportunity to learn the right way by enrolling me in the infant class in a Christian Science Sunday School. My wife also had the privilege of Sunday School instruction at an early age. As a result, our lives have been blessed with many marvelous benefits that have come to us through the daily study of the inspired Word of the Bible and of Science and Health.

The first of the healings that I should like to relate proved that a Christian Science treatment can span a continent and an ocean with its healing message. During the First World War, while I was in military service in France, I suffered from what the company doctor diagnosed as a hernia.

Since all the hospitals were filled to overflowing with wounded, it was not possible for the doctor to send me to a hospital for what he considered a necessary operation. I wrote to my mother when the condition was first apparent. There was no airmail service then, and her answer was slow in reaching me. However, when the answer did come, it assured me that no material operation was necessary, that God is the only surgeon, and that no rupture can ever exist between God and His perfect image and likeness, man. The healing was complete right then, and no trace of the hernia has ever been found again, even when I was being examined for life insurance.

Another healing was that of a cut eyelid and scratched eyeball. When the accident occurred I started at once to declare that God is Light and that accidents are unknown to God, divine Mind. A practitioner who was called immediately started to declare the perfection of man.

Because of the laws of our state requiring medical examinations in cases of industrial accidents, it was necessary to have a doctor examine the eye. Fearful predictions were made by him. All his medical statements were reversed at once by the practitioner. The healing was complete in two days and there was no permanent damage to the eye.

When our daughter was a very young child, she had what materia medica might have called pneumonia. The second night there was a high fever, and she breathed with difficulty. A practitioner had been called when it was first apparent that help was needed.

Because the child seemed more quiet when we held her, my wife and I took turns holding her in our arms most of the night, clinging steadfastly to the truths stated in Mrs. Eddy's writings, and especially these words (Science and Health, p. 16): "Only as we rise above all material sensuousness and sin, can we reach the heaven-born aspiration and spiritual consciousness, which is indicated in the Lord's Prayer and which instantaneously heals the sick."

We also repeated aloud and held firmly to the truth contained in "the scientific statement of being," the first sentences of which read (ibid., p. 468): "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all."

Suddenly the fever left the child. Her difficulty in breathing ceased, and she was put into her bed and slept naturally. When she awoke, she was entirely free from the difficulty and played normally about the house all day.

Our daughter is now married to a student of Christian Science who also had the privilege of learning the right way in one of our branch church Sunday Schools. Their children are being taught in a Christian Science Sunday School that the Christ, Truth, when properly applied, does heal all mankind.

For these healings and for the many others that have taken place over the years, we are profoundly grateful. It is a wonderful privilege to be members of The Mother Church and of a branch church, where we both have been able to serve the Christian Science movement in several different capacities. For the opportunity of having had class instruction together and for our annual association meeting, we are also very thankful. Words alone cannot express our gratitude to God for Christ Jesus, for our beloved Leader, and for this healing truth. —Alvin Benedict Lowe, Salt Lake City, Utah.

One day, after I had been studying Christian Science for about a year, one of our young sons was taken ill suddenly. The whole family was at home at the time, and we were just ready to sit down to lunch. He was only about two years old, and could not tell us what was hurting him; but we could tell he had acute pains in his stomach.

I tried to pray silently, declaring the omnipotence and omnipresence of God. But I soon saw that I needed to be alone with the child; so I took him in my arms and went into a bedroom and closed the door, taking the Christian Science Hymnal with me.

I laid the child upon a bed and took up the Hymnal. It opened to the hymn which begins, "O little town of Bethlehem" (No. 222). The thoughts that came to me were these: "Oh, you don't want to sing that hymn; it is a Christmas hymn. No one sings Christmas hymns in July!" However, I began to sing it, trying to calm my fears and turn my thought to God, although the child was crying louder than ever. Before I had finished singing, my thought was illumined, and I had learned something of the true meaning of Christmas. The last verse of the hymn reads,

> How silently, how silently,
> The wondrous gift is given;
> So God imparts to human hearts
> The blessings of His heaven.
> No ear may hear his coming,
> But in this world of sin,
> Where meekness will receive him, still
> The dear Christ enters in.

When I had finished singing, I looked at the child. The crying and pain had ceased, and there was a look of joy upon his face. He was smiling and reaching up. As Mrs. Eddy writes, "It was the living, palpitating presence of Christ, Truth, which healed the sick" (Science and Health, p. 351). I took him into the dining room, and he ate a big lunch.

Several years ago I fell headlong over the wire of our telephone which had been thoughtlessly stretched across the bathroom doorway. I struck my head on the top edge of the bathtub with great force. The pain for the moment was severe. After a few seconds I was able to turn my thought to God, and the pain soon ceased. Four of our children who were home at the time ran to help me. One of the young boys ran to get the Bible and the other one brought Science and Health to me while I was still lying on the floor. After a short time they all helped me to a bed where I lay down.

I was in a state of shock so that I could not speak coherently, although I could think clearly. After declaring to myself many statements of truth, I finally managed to indicate that I wanted the Hymnal, and they brought it.

I shall never forget the joy of listening to those children standing around the bed singing the beautiful hymns. One of them asked me if I did not want to try and get some sleep; but right away I recognized this as aggressive mental suggestion, and I became more wide-awake and alert than ever. I realized that although I could not speak, I must make an effort to sing with the children, and I did. I just opened my mouth, and the words came out, indistinctly at first but stronger and stronger until in just a few moments I was singing as clearly as the others.

I spent a restful night. The next day I was up and around as usual. I had a large lump on my head and had to sit down often because of dizziness. There had been indications of internal injuries from the start. Since I was Den Mother to twelve cub scouts and their meeting was to be held that afternoon, my desire was to be with them. So I asked for the prayerful support of a Christian Science practitioner. I was able to attend the meeting free from all the aftereffects experienced earlier.

However, a few months later from time to time small pieces of broken bone came out of one of my ears which had been injured in the fall. This adjustment took place with very little discomfort. My ear was healed and is normal in every way.

We have had many wonderful healings in our family, and I am sincerely grateful to the Bible Lesson Committee for the selection of the citations that make up the Lesson-Sermons, which are available to us in the Christian Science Quarterly. My gratitude knows no bounds for the purity and beauty of the life which Christ Jesus lived and for the help of practitioners and their unselfishness. I also am grateful for the lovely name Immanuel, or "God with us," and what it means to me and for Mind's loving guidance, which led me to seek class instruction and led a teacher of Christian Science to accept me as a pupil.—(Mrs.) Mary Whalen, University City, Missouri.

Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has revealed to this age a practical religion which has met my every need. The more I study and practice this Science, the more I admire and appreciate her unselfish service to mankind.

I was brought up in a home where God was always put first, and from an early age I attended the Christian Science Sunday School. When I went away from home to school and college, I had to make the truths of this religion my own, and I found them of inestimable value in my ten years' teaching experience with young children.

Problems of discipline and relationships were overcome in the classroom, and limiting beliefs of lack of intelligence were resolved when I saw clearly that God is man's only creator and that He has endowed His children with all the qualities they need. My pupils and I were also beautifully protected during epidemics.

When I began to teach, I suffered from recurring attacks of sore throat which took away my sense of dominion. At one time a severe attack left me almost unable to open my mouth. I telephoned to a Christian Science practitioner for help, and she stilled my fear immediately, assuring me that if I would quietly praise the Lord, I would find my freedom.

As I did this I felt the power of the Christ, Truth, unclasp the grip of error, which seemed literally to have me by the throat, and a great sense of calm and dominion flooded my thought. I was able to return to work, and many discordant conditions at school were tackled and overcome.

This healing took place about eight years ago and has been so complete that I have not had an attack of sore throat since, and a susceptibility to colds was overcome at the same time.

I am also grateful for two healings which occurred without any specific work being done for the conditions. One was a healing of recurring headache and the other a healing of impacted wisdom teeth, which have grown through quite normally.

I am grateful for the clear teaching I received when I had class instruction a few years ago. After this experience I felt a desire to seek a wider field of activity and service. A passage in Science and Health by Mrs. Eddy helped me very much. It reads (p. 258), "God expresses in man the infinite idea forever developing itself, broadening and rising higher and higher from a boundless basis." I began to see clearly that Truth unfolds its own immortal idea.

When reliance on human planning and outlining alone had been set aside, new work started to unfold in my experience, and I began to build on the foundations that had already been laid in my teaching career. Throughout the transition from one activity to another, all my needs have been beautifully met.

Membership in The Mother Church, which so generously pours out love to its members through the media of the Christian Science periodicals, tape recordings, and television and wireless programs, is a joyous privilege. I am grateful too for membership in a branch church and most particularly for the opportunity of working with the children in the Sunday School.—(Miss) Ann Kenrick, London, England.

MANY blessings have come to me through the application of the teachings of Christian Science. A joyous, successful marriage has been one of these blessings. In the five years we have been together, there have been some real testing times for my husband and me, and God has truly supported and sustained us all the way.

Two years ago, when visiting in the home of friends, we heard our three-year-old girl scream. She had been running with a dog leash in her hand. Somehow the leash had become caught and had thrown her down on a slate floor.

Our friends, who did not know we were Christian Scientists, seeing that she had been cut by the fall, urged us to rush her to a nearby hospital so that stitches could be taken. We thanked them, and my husband quietly telephoned to a Christian Science practitioner. Then we got into our car and drove away.

The child fell into a deep sleep. Our car came to a corner in the road which led two ways—on the one hand, to the hospital; the opposite direction, toward home. I shall always be grateful that my husband took his stand, trusting God, and turned toward home.

The practitioner unhesitatingly came right over, and when she spoke directly to the child, who lay limp in my arms, the little girl immediately awoke. She talked to the child gently but firmly of her true selfhood as a child of God, assuring her that all was well. A clean cloth was wrapped around the child's head; and after putting her to bed, we heard her repeating what the practitioner had told her, "I am a soldier of God!"

The child herself accepted the healing so completely that on awakening the next morning, she came downstairs and went next door to a neighbor's house. It was less than twelve hours after the accident that we found her sitting in the neighbor's lap, happily chatting. There was not a mark of any kind on the child's head, and the incident was never mentioned by her again.

This beautiful example of mental surgery brought healing to me also. I knew that I had been sorely tempted to turn toward the hospital to have stitches taken. As we learn to do in Christian Science, I turned to the Bible and to the writings of our Leader to find the reason why I had faltered in trusting God alone for healing. How quickly the answer came! I turned to page 260 of "Miscellaneous Writings," where, in speaking of Jesus' healing work, Mrs. Eddy says: "His faith partook not of drugs, matter, nor of the travesties of mortal mind. The divine Mind was his only instrumentality and potency, in religion or medicine. The Principle of his cure was God, in the laws of Spirit, not of matter; and these laws annulled all other laws."

I realized instantly and clearly that the temptation to resort to material means for healing had been nothing more than a suggestion or travesty on so-called mortal mind's part; that divine Mind, God, is truly the only instrumentality ever needed and that the laws of Spirit are capable of meeting every phase of this challenge. Never again has such a sense of fear overwhelmed me, and in a more recent experience I was better able to cope with the situation.

My husband came into the house one Sunday morning saying that he had fallen on the ice. A bone in his arm appeared to be dislocated. We worked prayerfully ourselves; but when the pain became severe, we called a practitioner, who also came to our home. After spending about fifteen minutes alone with my husband, she came downstairs and said that he was peacefully sleeping. An hour or so later, when he came down, his smiling face was all the proof needed that he was healed! He had free use of his arm from that time on, with no aftereffects of any kind.

I am each day thankful for all the avenues Mrs. Eddy has provided for us to learn more of Christian Science: the periodicals, the Lesson-Sermons from the Quarterly, the lectures, and class instruction, to name a few of them. The gratitude of our whole family is unbounded for the selfless giving of their time and the effective work of the practitioners in the Field.—(Mrs.) Lynn Lyle Davis, Birmingham, Michigan.

Each of the synonyms for God given on page 465 of Science and Health is of vital importance to Christian Scientists. However, there are times in daily experiences when one of these synonyms seems to mean more in meeting a need than the others. An understanding of infinite Mind was particularly helpful in the following incident.

When I was studying for my degrees in education, as well as holding my regular teaching position, I felt fearful when it came time for me to write the required long term papers and to take the necessary examinations. One assignment given by the psychology professor greatly worried me.

One Wednesday evening as I was driving to a branch Church of Christ, Scientist, I said aloud, "Please, God, show me what to do to get this assignment correctly started."

It was not until I was leaving the church, after listening most attentively to the beautiful and inspiring testimonies, that an angel message came to my thought. A friend stopped to talk to me, and during the conversation she told me that her daughter, when confronted with difficult assignments in high school, relied on these verses from Proverbs (3:5, 6): "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

This aroused me to do likewise. I recalled that Christian Science teaches that God is Mind. I was awakened to do some constructive, meaningful work to understand divine Mind.

I laid aside my assignment and took in its place the Concordance to Science and Health. I found many references to Mind. Choosing those pertaining to my immediate need was indeed a joyous experience. I felt that at last I was obeying Christ Jesus' counsel (John 5:19), "Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise."

Because of my reliance upon self I had been unsuccessful and fearful. As the result of my study, I now knew that of myself—my own personal intellect—I could do nothing. I knew now that all is Mind and Mind's ideas and that Mind, God, governs all of my faculties; that He is limitless and ever present; that He is the intelligence governing all true production; that He is the master of the corporeal senses; and that He is infinite. I was now ready to go forward with the assignment at hand.

When I took the list of topics that could be used for this assignment, the one "motivation" kept coming to my thought. This, I decided, was the right one for me to use. Ideas for the development of the paper came abundantly, and book references to this topic were numerous and fruitful. What a difference in accomplishing a task when one knows that divine, infinite Mind is directing and guiding all righteous activity!

The paper was turned in; when it was returned to me, the professor had written beside the mark "A" these words: "A thoroughly interesting paper. Would very much appreciate having a copy." Later when I gave him the copy, he told me that he wanted it for future use in beginning classes for teachers.

This experience, which began as such a chore, was the start of a new way of life for me. No longer was there fear of failure, for it had been replaced in consciousness by a feeling of success through my radical reliance on divine Mind. Now for the first time I was successfully claiming my true heritage as a child of God, made in His likeness and reflecting His perfection.

I am grateful for membership in The Mother Church and for active service in a branch church. The spiritual unfoldment gained through class instruction was a joyous experience. — (Mrs.) Marcella C. Burton, Utica, New York.

Over twenty years ago I became interested in Christian Science through the healing of a nephew. Physicians had diagnosed his trouble as an incurable neck condition. I began to study the textbook. At that time I had a bowel condition which had persisted since infancy and which materia medica had been unable to correct.

As I studied, the obstructing thoughts of fear, self-will, and self-centeredness were replaced with spiritual ideas from divine Mind. Some of these ideas are those given in Mrs. Eddy's definition of "oil" on page 592 of Science and Health, which reads, "Consecration; charity; gentleness; prayer; heavenly inspiration."

Within two months I was healed solely by reading the textbook, and the healing has been permanent. This healing brought with it the conviction that Christian Science is the Comforter promised by Christ Jesus. My spiritual sense was awakened, and I soon joined The Mother Church and one of its branches. The precious experience of class instruction followed.

Our son attended the Christian Science Sunday School and has experienced many healings. During his childhood a number of diseases were healed, including that of a callouslike condition on the sole of one of his feet. This dissolved when we realized that an erroneous thought could not take root in spiritual consciousness, his true identity. We trusted Christ Jesus' assurance given in the Bible (Matt. 15:13), "Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up." We also held to the statement in Science and Health which reads (p. 463), "A spiritual idea has not a single element of error, and this truth removes properly whatever is offensive." This healing too has been permanent.

At one time the argument of retrogression in my husband's employment appeared. We worked with the thought of position as a true mental attitude, realizing that divine Mind bestows on its ideas intelligence, harmony, and love. We held to these words of the Psalmist (Ps. 66:12): "Thou broughtest us out into a wealthy place." As we claimed the perfection of man's position as God's son, the argument of demotion was silenced, and progress and promotion to more interesting work followed.

More recently I had a healing of organic overaction. I requested the help of a practitioner, who spoke to me of the all-presence of divine Love and of Love as the only Life, including my life. I began to see that the difficulty did not have anything to do with my true identity as God's reflection, but was the carnal mind's suggestion that life is material and that man's life and activity are controlled through matter. I knew that a suggestion can never reach or control man, the expression of infinite Spirit, nor is it any part of his eternal history.

With this impersonalizing of error, I felt fear dissolve. The symptoms disappeared at once. A glimpse of Life as God changed the standpoint of my thinking, restored the right mental action, and the body naturally responded to Mind's control. This was a proof of our Leader's statement in Science and Health (p. 162), "The effect of this Science is to stir the human mind to a change of base, on which it may yield to the harmony of the divine Mind."

I could tell of many other healings in my own experience and in the experience of other members of the family which have resulted from the regenerative power of Christian Science. Some of the healings have come quickly, others have required greater growth in patience, perseverance, and spiritual love. But each one has brought a deeper sense of gratitude for Christ Jesus and his unparalleled example as Way-shower and for Mrs. Eddy and her boundless love for God, which enabled her to discover this wonderful truth for the benefit of mankind.—(Mrs.) Dorothy M. Matheson, Wilmington, Delaware.

In Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy writes (p. 559): "The inaudible voice of Truth is, to the human mind, 'as when a lion roareth.' It is heard in the desert and in dark places of fear." When I was a pilot in the United States Navy, I had some experiences which vividly illustrate the truth of this statement.

Early in our training we were told that an in-flight fire at night was one of the most critical emergencies one could experience. On one of my first night flights, I mistook the exhaust flames for a fire and landed immediately. However, I accepted the option to fly later that same night.

But while I waited for the flight, a fear of night flying started to creep into my thinking. The fear grew deeper and greater as the minutes passed until I could not control myself and began to sob. In my need I telephoned a Christian Science practitioner who lived over one thousand miles away.

Although I do not recall her exact words, I do remember the calm that immediately started to displace the convulsing fear as she assured me of the fatherhood of God and of man's divine sonship as His image and likeness. We spoke only briefly, and I asked her to continue supporting me through prayer.

As I became conscious of my immutable sonship with God, calm replaced fear, joy replaced tears, and I was healed. Not only was the flight successful, but in three subsequent years of flying I looked forward to night operations as the most peaceful and inspiring of all.

The second healing of fear was just as clear-cut. After two weeks of classroom instruction, I was on a familiarization flight in a single-seat, high-performance jet plane. We had been told repeatedly that when a certain red light glowed, the fuel supply was so critically low that one should be on the ground.

As I approached the field to land, that little light suddenly glared in my eyes. My first reaction was panic. Fear gripped my thinking so firmly that I completely forgot the routine procedures. Twice I tried unsuccessfully to land, and finally I was in such a turmoil that I had no idea what to do next and just sat in the airplane waiting for the engine to quit.

But at that moment I instinctively turned to God in prayer. Instantly, the fear left me, and my sense of order and dominion returned; I realized that the light was not functioning properly (I had plenty of fuel), and I landed without any trouble. Paralyzing fear had been replaced with correct thought and action as the direct result of brief and fervent prayer.

Because I applied Christian Science to problems encountered while I was in military service, those years were very happy and fruitful. It was a great benefit always to have available an experienced Christian Science Minister for the Armed Services. Those dedicated men certainly helped make many rough places plain.

I have much cause for gratitude to God, the Giver of all good.—J. Thomas Black, San Diego, California.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE PRACTITIONERS AND TEACHERS

The practitioners whose cards appear in these columns are members of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and are amenable to its By-Laws. They have presented testimony to The Christian Science Board of Directors of The Mother Church showing that they are qualified as practitioners of Christian Science.

The letters C. S. after a practitioner's name designate one who has had class instruction from an authorized teacher of Christian Science. The letters C. S. B. indicate that the practitioner has been taught by Mrs. Eddy or has taken a course at the Massachusetts Metaphysical College or in the Christian Science Board of Education.

The names of those who are authorized teachers of Christian Science are followed by the word "teacher." They may teach one class of not more than thirty pupils in each calendar year. The teaching of Christian Science is governed by the Church Manual of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, especially by Articles XXVI and XXVII (pages 83-87).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE NURSES

The nurses whose cards appear in these columns are members of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A., and they are amenable to its By-Laws. It is expected that nurses will read Instructions on page 1 of this periodical.

The letters C.S. after a nurse's name designate one who has had class instruction from an authorized teacher of Christian Science.

The asterisk (*) is used to designate those who have completed the course of training for Christian Science nurses at a Christian Science Benevolent Association Sanatorium.

The single dagger (†) is used to designate those who are graduates of other nursing-training courses or have had three consecutive years of Christian Science nursing, including two years of training.

The double dagger (‡) is used to designate those who have had no training course, but have had five years' practical experience in Christian Science nursing.

The words "for mail only" in a nurse's card show that she is regularly employed in a Christian Science nursing home or is not available to respond to calls.

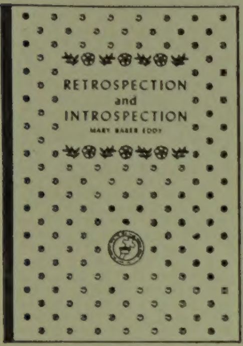
Especially appropriate for gifts



This Beautiful edition of

RETROSPECTION

AND

INTROSPECTION

BY MARY BAKER EDDY

FULFILLING requests from the Field for an edition of Mrs. Eddy's autobiography bound separately from her other writings, the Trustees under the Will of Mary Baker Eddy take pleasure in presenting to you the beautiful Gift Edition of "Retrospection and Introspection."

This book, first published in 1891, has enabled many to grow in their reverence and love for Mrs. Eddy as within its pages are the events of her life which prepared her for the discovery of Christian Science. In it, too, will be found invaluable explanations and statements of truth which will contribute to the progress of every Christian Scientist.

Recalling Mrs. Eddy's fondness for pink roses, this new edition has been bound in a white cover with an all-over design of tiny pink roses. In its new binding, it is especially appropriate for gift-giving even to the newcomer to Christian Science—attractively priced at $3.00 in all Christian Science Reading Rooms throughout the world, or sent postpaid by
